Baggage Liability Limit Increased

From $100 to $150 According to Recent Ruling of Public Service Commission of New York State—$75 Limit for Children.

Albany, July 1.—The Public Service Commission has directed the railroad corporations of the State to change their baggage allowance rules so as to restore the former allowance of $150 as the limit of value of baggage carried without charge for each adult, and $75 for each child traveling on a half ticket. The rule now in effect provides maximum allowances of $100 and $75 for each adult and child, respectively. This rule was established in 1919 during Federal control of the railroads of the country. The requirement now made by the Public Service Commission will bring the baggage allowance rules of the railroads engaged in intrastate traffic in this state in conformity with the rules of section 38 of the Public Service Commission Law.

Score Hurt in Trolley Mishap

Buffalo, N. Y., July 1.—A score of persons were injured, two of them, Reginald Wood, 25, motorman, and William McCall, a passenger, probably fatally, when a Forest Michigan avenue trolley car jumped the track early today at Glenwood and Delevan avenues.

The car leaped the curb and crashed into two telegraph poles. Sizzling electric live wires torn from their sockets by the crash added hazard to the rescue work.

Nearby residents aided ambulance doctors and firemen in extricating the victims. It was necessary to jack up the car in order to remove some of the more seriously injured.

Mrs. Vickers Dies of Wounds

Camden, N. J., July 1.—Mrs. Harriet Vickers died today in a hospital from bullet wounds said to have been inflicted by Paul W. Fuersten, leader of the Camden Philharmonic orchestra, at his apartment.

Fuersten will be arraigned tomorrow charged with murder.

Rawton Vickers, husband of Mrs. Vickers, was at her bedside this morning when she succumbed. Mrs. Vickers left her husband three months ago because of Fuersten, police said, and when she decided to return to him, Fuersten shot her.

Soldiers Parade Streets of Rome

Rome, July 1.—Armed soldiers of the Carabinieri are patrolling the streets of Rome and the industrial centers today, as the new law increasing the Italian working day from eight hours to nine becomes effective.

The government explains that the presence of the soldiers in the streets is merely as an object lesson to any communists or subversionist troublemakers who might try to stir up the workers to protest against the increased working hours.

Thus far there has been no indication of any great opposition to the new order on the part of the workers, inasmuch as the workers have received wage increases ranging from ten to twenty-five per cent. The new drive for economy will probably later on be directed more strictly against pleasure seekers. It is understood that Premier Mussolini now has in contemplation an order closing all bars and cabarets at 10 o'clock at night.

WATERING THE SAUSAGES, NOT THE MILK NOW

Westfield, Mass., July 1.—They're watering the sausages—not the milk now, according to Professor L. B. Allyn, famous pure food expert of the State Department of Health.

Samples of sausages sold in Westfield, Massachusetts received for examination by Professor Allyn today were found to contain fifty percent water.

FIREWORKS AND DANCE AT EAST KINGSTON

The fireworks and dance which was to have been held last Saturday at East Kingston and was postponed on account of rain will be held this Saturday evening. Costello's band will supply the music.

1,536 at Sing Sing.

Ossining, N. Y., July 1.—The population of Sing Sing Prison was reported today to 1,536, a new record, as the result of the rush of convicts to the prison to take advantage of the "old time" of law. At midnight the New Penal Law went into effect, providing that a prisoner guilty of felony must serve the minimum sentence imposed.

Pays $50,000 for Colt.

Lexington, July 1.—R. Dale, Lexington sportsman, paid $50,000 for a yearling colt out of the famous mare, Gainsborough, at Newmarket today.

Garment Strike Will Affect 40,000

New York, July 1.—Forty thousand garment workers, affecting 1,600 shops were called out today in one of the greatest industrial strikes in the history of labor.

The call brought 6,000, the first unit, out of their shops at ten o'clock this morning. Other units will be called at intervals during the next two or three days until all have ceased working. This plan was adopted in order to avoid any disorder, it was announced.

The strike is unique in that it is not directed against the employers, but against the jobbers. The union demands that the 200 jobbers, who control 75 per cent of the work in this city, explicitly recognize their responsibility to the men and women making the garments. This the jobbers refuse as they are not direct employers.

The strike is aimed at the Merchants' Ladies' Garment Association, whose members turn out three-quarters of the $370,000,000 in garments made in the New York market each year.

This organization has met, and decided that inasmuch as the rush season does not begin until August 10 and the majority of garment deliveries need not be made before the middle of September, they will mark time and await developments.

The Industrial Council of the Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Protective Association, representing the inside, or direct manufacturers, has decided to seek an early settlement, however. It is expected to call upon Governor Smith's Garment Commission, headed by George Gordon Battle, to intervene, and demand that the dispute be arbitrated.

Eliminate U. & D. Grade Crossings

Three In Delaware County Included by Public Service Commission Under Grade Crossing Elimination Bond Issue.

Albany, July 1.—The Public Service Commission has announced dates for hearings on seventeen proceedings which it has begun for the elimination bond issue.

Among the railroad crossings which the Commission seeks to eliminate, either by construction of an overhead or underground crossing in place of the present crossing at grade are three along the line of the Ulster & Delaware railroad. The three crossings are:

The Davenport Center road corssing in the town of Davenport, Delaware county. The hearing in regard to this crossing will be held at Oneonta on August 3 at 10 a. m.

The Rice Clark's road crossing in the town of Roxbury, Delaware county. The hearing will be held at Oneonta on August 3 at 1 p. m.

The county highway crossing near the Arkville station, town of Middletown, Delaware county. Hearing will be held at Oneonta on August 3 at 2 p. m.

CHANCE FOR MEN TO JOIN ROBIE PARTY

The publicity bureau for the L. C. Robie evangelistic services which are to start in Kingston on Sunday, July 11, is already functioning.

This bureau announces two events for Saturday, July 10. During the day "Robie and Party" will erect their large tent. Anyone interested in helping to put this tent up on Field Court is asked to communicate with Henry Bartch, 25 Van Deusen street, who is chairman of the tent committee.

In the evening the first rehearsal of the chorus choir will be held. Those interested in singing in this choir are asked to communicate with Robert Baines, 632 Broadway, who is the chairman of the music committee.

Services will be held every Sunday at 3 and 8 and every evening except Monday at 8 o'clock.

SPANISH CHAMP BEAT MOLLA MALLORY 6-2, 6-2

Wimbledon, England, July 1.—Senorita de Alvarez squelched the hopes of Mrs. Molla Mallory of reaching the finals of the ladies' singles in the Royal Wimbledon tournament this afternoon.

The Spanish champion, playing at top form before the King and Queen of Spain, defeated the former American champion, 6-2, 6-2.

Senorita de Alvarez meets Mrs. Kitty McKane Godfree, the English champion, in the finals.

NO FREEMAN PUBLISHED ON MONDAY, JULY 5

Owing to Monday, July 5, being observed as a legal holiday in place of July 4, The Freeman will not be published on that day. Any advertising copy for the issue of Tuesday, July 6, that can be sent in on Saturday will be very welcome.

Boy Hit by Truck.

Francis Hickey, a young boy residing at 75 Second avenue, was struck by a city truck this morning and his foot injured. He was taken to the office of Dr. Larkin where the wound was dressed, and later he was removed to the Benedictine Hospital.

Deaf Mute Girl Brutally Killed

Opal Woodyard, a Deaf Mute, Taken From Escort, Attacked, Thrown From Automobile and Run Over by Another Car.

Akron, Ohio, July 1.—The pretty 25-year-old girl who was run down and killed on Portage Lake early today after being stripped and attacked by two men who took her away from her escort, J. J. Griffiths, 32, whom they beat up, was identified today as Opal Woodyard, a deaf mute, employed at the Firestone Rubber Factory. Police announced warrants have been sworn out for the arrests of the two abductors.

The girl came to her death officers said after being attacked, thrown from an automobile and run over by another car on Portage Lake Drive near here.

J. J. Griffiths, 32, staying at the Marne Hotel, held for questioning by police, admitted he "picked up" the girl on Market street last night. He claimed that after driving to one of the lake resorts where they had some pre-Volstead refreshments, two men called to him. They struck him in the face, then seized the girl and dragged her by her feet and hair to a nearby cottage. She could not scream and struggled fiercely, Griffith stated. He followed and saw the girl lying on a bed, the men tearing her clothes off. The men came out and set upon him again. He ran in search of a telephone to call the sheriff. In the meantime the two men carried the girl into their automobile and fled.

Ollie Sockwell and George Wicker told police they were driving along Portage Drive when a nude girl suddenly staggered in front of their machine. Despite their efforts to avoid hitting her, the car struck the girl and knocked her down.

Coroner M. B. Craft, after conducting a post-mortem examination of the girl's body, said the direct cause of her death was ruptured artery in her lung. She had been attacked, he said.

City Streets Closed to Traffic

Owing to the fact that the water department is busy laying a new pipe line through Clinton avenue and that the street department is also busy tearing up the rails of the abandoned Colonial trolley division at the present time, one block on Clinton avenue, between Franklin street and Liberty street, is closed to traffic, making a detour necessary.

Hasbrouck avenue, where rails are being torn up, is passable between Mill and Murray streets, although the work is not completed.

Cedar street is closed to traffic between Broadway and Sterling street owing to the removal of a house from the Lazarus Theatre site, which is being turned around in the street preparatory to its removal to another site. At the present rate of progress, this block will remain closed for some time.

Air Mail Plane Arrives at Boston

Boston, July 1.—Linking Boston with the west and middle west, the first air mail plane arrived today from New York.

Dropping down from the clouds with five sacks of mail the plane, piloted by H. R. Wells, found at the East Boston Airport a sister plane, which five minutes before had brought to Boston from Hartford, Conn., Governor John H. Trumbull of that state.

The mail plane on its maiden run was delayed an hour by head winds.

Advantages of air mail and commercial aviation were extolled by speakers at an air mail luncheon tendered to Governor Trumbull at the Chamber of Commerce.

YOUTHFUL VIOLINISTS AT WURTS STREET CHURCH

At the Sunday school services Sunday morning at the Wurts Street Baptist Church a feature in the way of violin selections will be given by little George and Jane McIntyre, age seven and eight years, of Binghamton. The two youthful musicians are children of Mrs. Lillian Cropper McIntyre, a noted violinist and teacher of Binghamton, who will be the week end guest of Miss M. Helen Freer of 29 Franklin street. The selections will be rendered during the Sunday school hour which commences at 11:45 o'clock.

Ulster's Share of State Income Tax Will Be $61,226.18

Apportionment Shows Increase of $4,184.44—City's Share, $27,200—Kingston and Marlborough Get Principal Increases—Increases of Nearby Counties and Cities—Largest Income Tax Yet Collected.

Albany, N. Y., July 1. (Special)—Distribution to county treasuries of $26,000,000, of personal income tax moneys to be apportioned to municipalities was announced yesterday by M. F. Loughman, president of the State Tax Commission.

Ulster county will receive the sum of $61,226.18, an increase over the year 1925 of $4,184.44. The city of Kingston will receive $27,200, an increase over the year 1925 of $2,165.66.

Other counties in this section of the state will receive the following amounts:

County	Amount	Increase Over 1925
Albany	$287,782 79	$25,021 33
Columbia	41,335 10	3,239 30
Delaware	49,755 71	5,125 33
Dutchess	125,471 26	11,711 90
Greene	23,828 76	1,124 21
Orange	180,643 38	26,136 31
Putnam	25,967 92	2,433 13
Rensselaer	128,120 91	9,659 75
Rockland	57,089 12	5,586 92
Schoharie	22,736 73	6,191 04
Sullivan	12,779 13	963 90

Other cities, towns and villages in this section will receive the following amounts:

Cities, Towns, etc.	Amount	Increase Over 1925
Albany	$198,000 00	$17,421 19
Hudson	10,000 00	1,427 31
Po'keepsie (City)	37,000 00	5,541 24
Po'keepsie (Town)	12,000 00	3,280 10
Beacon	13,000 00	1,216 73
Newburgh	47,000 00	12,617 09
Middletown	31,400 00	2,574 67
Port Jervis	13,000 00	1,158 09
Gilboa	5,500 00	1,667 11

Hudson Valley Counties Benefit.

Municipalities in many of the Hudson Valley counties benefit considerably from the increased distribution and increased valuations.

The increase in Ulster county will be noticed particularly in Kingston and Marlborough, while the city and town of Newburgh and the town of Highland lead in Orange county.

Income tax receipts for the city of Schenectady will be in excess of $235,000 this year due in a large measure to the reassessment undertaken there last year, when more than $13,000,000 was added to the real property valuation of the city.

Big Income For Saratoga.

The treasury of the city of Saratoga Springs will be enriched by more than $44,500 of state income tax moneys. In this city the assessors increased the real property valuation of the city from $10,811,000 to $34,800,000. No other municipality in the state will profit to the proportionate extent that Saratoga has from this source. In 1925 the city received only $13,252 of income tax moneys so that this year over $30,000 more of state moneys can be applied to the reduction of tax bills.

In Warren county the city of Glens Falls and the towns of Warrensburg, Johnsburg and Bolton are the gainers. The assessors in these four municipalities are striving to place all real property valuations on a hundred per cent basis, thereby obtaining substantial sums of state moneys for the taxpayers.

Gains in Other Cities.

A $16,000,000 increase in property values in Rochester will add $78,000 to that city's income tax receipts making its total apportionment over $630,000. Syracuse will gain over $57,000 for a total share of $330,000. Utica's and Rome's shares will be $158,000 and $34,200 respectively. Less than a 4 per cent average appreciation in real property values was reported by the assessors of the municipalities of Oneida county last year.

In Erie county $1,566,000 will be distributed, of which the city of Buffalo will receive in excess of $1,255,000, a gain of at least $225,000 over 1925.

Water System Benefits Gilboa.

Harrietstown in Franklin county and Gilboa in Schoharie county lead all the other towns of the state in the margin of gain. In Harrietstown the assessors reported a 32 per cent increase in all property valuations while the income tax receipts for Gilboa will jump from $832 to $5,500. Construction on New York city water system more than quadrupled real property values in Gilboa.

Total Income Taxes Larger.

The amount is the largest divided among the cities, towns and villages since the state began levying a personal income tax in 1919 and indicates that the total of income taxes collected during 1926 will surpass that of any previous year. The receipts to the municipalities will exceed by $2,000,000 the amount distributed to them last year which had established a previous high record. Collections so far in 1926 aggregate $39,000,000, despite the twenty-five per cent reduction on all personal income taxes and increases in exemptions which eliminated approximately 275,000 persons who had paid income taxes the last few years. But for the increase in personal exemptions and the 25 per cent reduction, the total receipts from income taxes would have exceeded any previous year's collection by $12,000,000.

Increases For Most Districts.

Except in the rare instances where there has been depreciation of real property values, every tax district of the state will receive more than last year or any previous year. The counties in which the most conspicuous gains are noticed are those comprising New York city, and Nassau and Westchester in each of which there has been a steady rise of real property values. The amount apportioned to New York city will be $2,438,000 in excess of what was received last year. This apportionment was made on a real property valuation of $11,621,251,925, which is $1,244,000,000 greater than the assessed valuation of the entire state in 1919, the year the income tax was first collected, emphasizing the unprecedented increase in real property values which the Empire State is experiencing.

The metropolitan district will gain substantially as the result of the increased rate and the marked rise in real property values. The greater city will receive from this source a total of $17,594,511.

Four Prisoners Faced Shufeldt

Two Taxi Drivers in Trouble, One for Soliciting Fares and the Other for Using Illegal Sign on Windshield—Nenni Is Discharged—Other Cases.

Philip Tucker, a local taxi driver, was arrested at the West Shore station Wednesday by Officer Tierney of the West Shore police force, who charged Tucker with soliciting fares while standing more than five feet away from his cab. Tucker pleaded guilty in police court and was sentenced to ten days in jail, serving of which was suspended pending good behavior.

Morris Goldman, a local taxi driver who has been warned several times by the police against using a taxi sign on the windshield of his car, was arrested Wednesday by Officer Soper for failure to observe the warning. Judge Shufeldt imposed a fine of $5 and suspended the payment of it.

Late Duffy, arrested for public intoxication, was fined $5.

Sylvester Nenni of 7 O'Neil street was arrested Wednesday by Acting Sergeant Fout on a warrant obtained by Frank Sottile of 41 East Strand, charging Nenni with assault in the third degree. Nenni gave bail for his appearance in police court today at which time after a private conference between the interested parties it was announced that the charge had been withdrawn and Nenni was discharged. Nenni was represented at the conference by Judge James Jenkins while Attorney Chris J. Flanagan appeared for Sottile.

Genevieve Mack of Brooklyn, arrested on a charge of speeding 48 miles an hour on Albany avenue on Wednesday, furnished $25 cash bail for her appearance later. She was picked up by Officer Fatum.

Samuel Limenfield of Grantwood, N. J., arrested by Officer Soper who charged him with speeding 37 miles an hour, furnished cash bail for his appearance on July 6.

Recluse Left Over 4 Millions

New York, July 1.—Mrs. Mary S. Croxton, recluse, who died in Brooklyn without a will, left an estate valued at $4,253,166.42, it was revealed by a transfer tax appraisal filed today.

Mrs. Croxton was the daughter of the late James T. Stranahan, known as "Brooklyn's first citizen."

Abner L. Fitch, of Westmont, N. Y., and Sarah F. Griffin, of Kirkwood, N. Y., each receive $1,235,722.

Garage Burns on Marilina Avenue

An alarm rung in from Box 212, Lucas avenue near Boulder avenue, about 11:30 this morning called the firemen to 95 Marilina avenue where a small garage at the rear of the lot owned by Hiram Sickler was on fire. It was destroyed. The usual fleet of automobilists who make it a business to attend fires was present.

PUBLIC DEBT LESS THAN A YEAR AGO

Washington, July 1.—The government began the new fiscal year today with a total public debt of $19,433,000,000, it was announced at the treasury.

The surplus for the fiscal year which closed at midnight was officially set at $377,768,000.

The public debt is $375,000,000 less than on July 1 a year ago.

Young "Shick" Shot to Death.

New York, July 1.—Several young girls were rounded up today by District Attorney McGeehan of The Bronx and questioned concerning the mysterious slaying of James Oddo, 16 years old, known among some of his friends as the "Shick". He was a fashionable dresser and popular with the girls. He was found shot to death last night in a lonely road.

Deny Engagement Of Wales Prince

London, July 1.—Another interesting rumor of the engagement of the Prince of Wales was exploded today.

Reports from San Sebastian that the Spanish King and Queen are now in London to arrange a marriage between the Infanta Beatrice and the Prince, were met with a quick denial from official sources.

The official statement stamped these reports as entirely baseless.

The many reports that the engagement of the prince would be announced this summer seem now to be likely to fall of fulfillment. As yet there is no indication of any meeting between the prince and Princess Astrid of Sweden who was reported coming to London to become betrothed to the prince.

San Sebastian, July 1.—The Prince of Wales is going to marry the Infanta Beatrice of Spain, according to the Newspaper La Vez De Guipuzcoa.

The newspaper claims that the Spanish sovereigns, who are now in London, are arranging the union and that the Prince of Wales will make an official visit to Spain this summer.

New City Civic League Launched

Representatives of Seven Organizations Meet In Response to Admiral Higginson's Recent Suggestion—Constitution and By-Laws to Be Drafted—Max L. Reben, Temporary Chairman.

Following out a suggestion made by Admiral Francis J. Higginson some time ago looking toward the formation of an organization of representatives of city organizations active in or interested in civic betterment and general city improvement, there met at the Chamber of Commerce rooms Wednesday evening the following group of such representatives:

For the Chamber of Commerce—President Max L. Reben, who presided at the meeting, and Secretary Coe.

For the Federation of Women's Clubs—The president, Mrs. A. Ray Powley, and Mrs. C. N. Reed.

For the Young Women's Christian Association—The president of the board of directors, Mrs. G. F. Rice.

For the Kingston Ministerial Association—The Rev. Dr. Charles G. Ellis and the Rev. Arthur S. Cole.

For the Rotary Club—President E. W. Hathaway.

For the Kiwanis Club—President Chester A. Baltz.

For the Young Men's Christian Association—Secretary Porter.

Of course, the founder of the proposed organization Rear Admiral Higginson was present.

President Reben called upon Admiral Higginson to state his ideas relative to the objective of the meeting. The admiral explained that in order to have more weight as representing varied groups of people relative to any betterment project for the city or the bettering of any undesirable conditions, he thought that the grouping in one body of duly accredited representatives of the various city organizations into a league or council would bring about a coordination of effort that would be wholesome and much more effective that individual action by any of the organizations that might affiliate with such a council.

After much discussion as to the best ways and means of crystalizing Admiral Higginson's idea, it was unanimously voted to form such an organization of representatives of civicly inclined organizations. It was further voted to elect Admiral Higginson president of a temporary organization and Secretary Coe as secretary, to prepare a preliminary constitution and by-laws that would outline the purposes and form of a permanent body, so that those present might carry back to their organizations a definite idea of the formation of such a body for them to instruct their representatives to vote for or against at a future meeting.

City Fireworks Here on July 5

Common Council Committee Plan to Have Display Staged in Rear of High School as in Former Years—Band Concert Same Evening by Citizens' Band.

The municipal fireworks display will be shown in the rear of the Kingston High School on Monday evening, July 5, in connection with a band concert by the Citizens' Band which has been engaged by the board of public works to give a series of nine concerts. The other eight concerts are to be given in City Hall Park on Tuesday evenings.

At the last meeting of the common council a special committee was appointed to arrange for the fireworks display for which an appropriation had been made in the budget.

It is expected that the display this year will be fully equal to that of other years.

Fireman Bennett Dies of Injuries

Westerly, R. I., July 1—The death toll in the wreck of the crack railroad train Cape Codder, at Kenyon, reached four today when Andrew Bennett, 29, of New Haven, died of internal injuries at the Westerly Hospital. Bennett was fireman on the Cape Codder.

Albert Bennett, of Detroit, reached the bedside of his brother a few minutes after he passed away.

The other three men killed were members of the freight train engine crew. They were instantly killed when the engine boiler exploded, throwing the freight cars into the path of the speeding Cape Codder.

Charles Frazier, engineer of the express, is still in the hospital here.

Early Returns Favor Nye

Bismarck, N. D., July 1.—Incomplete returns in North Dakota's primary election today indicated that United States Senator Gerald P. Nye will be nominated over former Governor L. B. Hanna, Coolidge Republican, for the United States Senate by a margin of between 10,000 and 20,000.

Governor A. G. Sorlie will secure the Republican nomination for governor over J. M. Hanley, returns indicated.

Unless upsets occur in the western part of the state these majorities may be higher than early estimates forecast.

The Fargo Forum has conceded the nomination of Senator Nye and Governor Sorlie.

German Cannon In Electric Park

The captured German field piece which was turned over to Kingston Post, American Legion, by the Federal government, and which has been stored in the municipal building on East O'Reilly street, has been temporarily placed on the lawn of Electric Park, the pretty little park laid out by the Kingston Gas & Electric Company at the power station at Jansen avenue and East O'Reilly street, opposite the Central Fire Station. It was originally intended to place the gun on the grounds of the Legion Memorial Building, but when the building was completed it was found that there was not enough room on the grounds for it. The Post offered it to the city to be placed on Academy Green, but the offer was not accepted. The electric company's offer to have it placed in its present position was accepted. The cannon is attracting much attention.

Seized Alcohol Was Medicated

The charge against Joseph Deegan, arrested at Livingston Columbia county, Monday by State Troopers on a charge of having a truck load of 100 gallons of alcohol in his possession has been dismissed by U. S. Commissioner A. C. Connelly before whom Deegan was arraigned. Analysis showed that the alcohol was medicated and unfit for beverage purposes. Deegan was represented by General Hanson A. Gillette. At the hearing Monday afternoon an adjournment was taken until today in order to receive a copy of the analysis of the samples taken and analyzed by the government chemists at New York. Deegan was paroled in the custody of his counsel until today.

Mrs. Styles at City Hotel.

Asks Referendum On Playgrounds

Admiral Higginson Deplores Public Works Board's Action in Turning Down Playground Supervision and Recommends Referendum to Determine Public Sentiment.

To the Editor of The Freeman,
Sir:

I regret to see that the board of public works at its meeting on June 29th turned down playground supervision by experts for this year thereby depriving playground work of its most valuable asset. As an example, I saw a notice in the newspaper where a policeman got his lip cut in a fight with a disorderly person in Block Park. That sort of thing together with profane language and unfair conduct in sports always has and always will happen in unsupervised playgrounds to which the board of public works has now so ruthlessly and with so little appreciation condemned the children of our city.

This action, together with the failure to provide adequate playground facilities throughout the city, shows that the playground interests in the city of Kingston have fallen upon evil days and it is up to parents and organizations who are interested sufficiently in playground work to say, when opportunity offers, whether they are satisfied with the present conditions of things or not.

My recommendations are:

1st. A referendum to the voters of the city.

2nd. A playground survey of the city by experts.

3rd. The removal of playground administration from the board of public works and the creation of a separate and independent playground committee to which all appropriations for playground activities shall be made.

These measures will I think place Kingston in line with the most approved and scientific treatment of the playground question, as existed under Mayor Canfield, and will, if the movement is properly supported and sustained by public opinion, remove playground interests from the blight of official neglect. But as I said the remedy is up to the voters.

FRANCIS J. HIGGINSON.

USE VICTIMS' HEADS TO SCALP "SPOOKS"

Murder and Sacrifice Religious Rite in Burma.

The head-hunting Nagas live in the mountain fastnesses of Upper Burma. Apart from head-hunting the Nagas are a gentle and industrious race, tending their fields. It is a tribal crime to bruise a flower or kill a butterfly, according to an explorer, writing in the London Mail.

Naga villages, surrounded by impenetrable barricades of thorn and cactus, and entered through a winding tunnel, the floor of which bristles with poisonous snakes set to kill unwary and unwanted strangers, are joined to each other by groves of sacred trees. Huge gnarled boles tower to a roof of branches so dense with leaf that not a gleam of sunshine penetrates to the gloom below. In sinister rows along these groves stand totem poles, garishly daubed with brilliant ochres and hideously carved. A human skull is impaled on the top of each pole.

When the head-hunters return with their victims a dance is held. The captives are given a good meal and dressed in the best clothes the village can provide.

Before their heads, hands and feet are cut off, the villagers apologize for any inconvenience this rite may cause to the victims and point out that they will be honorably sacrificed to the harvest-gods, that their skulls will grace the sacred grove, that their ghosts will share with the village army of other victims' spooks the honored job of scaring off the horde of jinns and demons which lurk around the villages intent, so the Nagas say, on bringing plague and famine to the tribe.

Follows an orgy of sacrifice, opium eating and toddy drinking; the victims' heads, hands and feet are paraded on poles through the opium and paddy fields as harvest thanksgiving tokens. With solemn rites the skulls are added to the grim rows of ghostly sentinels.

But the skulls must be those of strangers, the Nagas believing that if the heads came from the shoulders of Naga tribesmen the ghosts of the victims, instead of staying in the grave by their skulls, would hunt the villagers and wreak more spiteful damage than the very jinns and demons which they should drive away.

Almost Too Playful

Don Carlos, of Jeromuna, is only a pup as yet, but his owners, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Sloman, of Baltimore, Md., expect that he will be a big dog if he lives to grow up. At present he weighs 150 pounds, stands 31 inches high at the shoulder and can look into the eyes of a 6-foot man when he stands on his hind legs. He is a Great Dane. He is an ardent collector of door mats and similar things. Neighbors now write their names on their mats to expedite delivery and save confusion. Sometimes the dog's love of a good joke goes beyond that. A beekeeper, with his head covered in the usual mask, was deep in the business of corralling some swarming bees. The playful pup reared up, snatched off the mask and trotted slowly homeward with it, leaving the beekeeper involved in a cloud of insects and strong language.

Pigeons Fly Twelve Hours

"Racing pigeons dart away instantly toward their home lofts when released. Though they weigh only 16 ounces and eat only an ounce of food a day, they will fly 12 or 13 hours without stopping. A pigeon fancier comes to love his birds as a dog or horse breeder loves his favorite setter or mount. They have great intelligence. Certain birds have been valued at more than $2,000 and have brought such prices."

Charles Ellsworth, veteran Cincinnati pigeon breeder and racer, and president of the American Racing Pigeon Union, in annual convention in Cleveland, recently gave these facts to the members of the union.—Detroit News.

Form of Food Poisoning

The word "botulism" is derived from the Latin word "botulus," meaning a sausage, and was probably first applied in cases of food poisoning originating from eating sausage. Afterward it was applied to other forms of food poisoning having the same characteristics.

MARLBOROUGH

Marlborough, July 1.—A number of people from Marlborough attended the regatta at Highland on Monday afternoon. The Diamond Bus Line had a special bus to accommodate the people going and coming home.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Gaffney and son Lawrence, and daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lauren Abrams of New Paltz, called on Mrs. Gaffney's mother, Mrs. Anna Hannigan, on Sunday.

Miss Anna Masca entertained a number of her young friends Sunday evening. During the evening delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. Cecelia Walsh of Newburgh is visiting her nephew, John Downer, for a few weeks.

Miss Lilly Vasser of Lumberton, North Carolina, is the guest of Mrs. Barret Wygant. Mr. and Mrs. Wygant went to New York to meet her on Sunday. She was accompanied by her father, Judge Vasser, who remained for a two days' visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerick of Boonton, New Jersey, are guests at Shadybrook farm. Mrs. Gisheit of Jersey City spent the past week end on the farm and Mrs. M. E. Conklin also of Jersey City arrived Saturday to stay all summer.

Miss Ethel Rusk returned home from Glens Falls where she has been teaching during the past year. She expects to return to the same place next fall.

Mrs. George Lane, visited relatives last week in Palisades, New Jersey.

Mrs. E. D. Strope who has been ill the past week is improving nicely.

Mrs. C. H. Robson of Queens Village, with her little son, is spending the summer with her mother, Mrs. Frederick Schumann.

Miss Juliet Barry and some friends of Newburgh spent Sunday at Greenpoint.

Mrs. Robert Young of Poughkeepsie is the guest of Mrs. Cornelia Young.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney McMullen and family attended the graduating exercises at the Albany Hospital Friday, when their daughter, Miss Julia McMullen, graduated. She was president of the class of '26.

The Misses Wanda and Minoine Masten and Albert Masten, Jr., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Masten.

Mrs. Jennie Lowry and daughter, Doris, left Wednesday for Littsville, Florida, where they will spend a good share of their summer vacation. Mrs. Lowry will return to the local school.

C. D. of A. of St. Mary's Church held their strawberry festival in opposition to old mother nature Thursday evening. A storm arose at the time and hindered many from attending the delicious supper. The festival began at 5 o'clock, and continued for more than an hour, and $15 was taken in, most of which was profit.

The Senoir Prom held Tuesday evening by the Senior Class of the Marlborough school was a success in every way. Although not meant to be a money making affair at all, it resulted in the clearing of approximately $25 for the class treasury. As a social occasion it was a thorough success also, and there were many guests from out of town as well as those from Marlborough. St. Mary's Hall, where the dance was held, was simply and artistically decorated in the class colors, gold and white, with flowers and streamers. Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morrow, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Tuthill.

The three girls who graduated Monday evening from the Marlborough High School will all go to different places next year. Frances Carey, the class president, will attend the New Paltz Normal School and fit herself for teaching. Rose Dunn, the secretary, will take a business course. Nellie Tuthill, class treasurer, will probably attend a school in New York city. There will be twelve students in next year's graduating class.

Work on the cold storage plant of the Marlborough Refrigerating Company, below the ravine, is proceeding at a rapid rate. Most of the abutments are completed and the retaining wall is half erected. The sand being dumped daily in the marsh around the plant's site from the stone crusher of the New York Trap Rock Company, is coming in at such a rate that within another two or three weeks the section around the proposed building will be practically all filled in.

King street is practically all repaired. The top finish has been put on almost the entire length of it and within another day or so the machinery will be moved and the street will be opened to traffic. This will be one of the best improvements the village has seen in some time.

Flossie Mackey is on a vacation from her work at the Record office and is visiting at the home of Mrs. William Linsig of Hopewell Junction.

Edith Quimby entertained eight of her young friends on Saturday in honor of her birthday.

About twenty members of C. D. of A. Court Santa Maria of Marlborough, attended an initiation in Newburgh by Court Patricia, C. D. of A. Refreshments were served from the Palatine Hotel. They chartered a bus for the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorgeafrei and family of Syracuse spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. P. J. F. Gallagher.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Scott of Kingston visited relatives in town the past week.

Miss Anna Masa entertained a number of her girl friends on Sunday evening. During the evening delicious refreshments were served.

On July 7 the Garden Club will meet at the home of Mrs. W. P. Garmany.

Mrs. Frank Hannigan was confined to her home the past week with illness.

Varying Tides

The tides of the Mediterranean sea are very slight, at most places being only a few inches. In certain sections, however, such as in the Ionian sea, the Adriatic sea and parts of the African coast, there is a rise of more than six feet.

Leak Made Much Trouble

A leaking cask of wine caused such a growth of fungi in a wine cellar that not only was it raised to the roof, but the door of the cellar would not open and it was necessary to pull up the floor boards in the room above.

Discovered by Dutch

The Spitsbergen islands in the Arctic ocean, north of Norway and northeast of Greenland, were discovered in 1596 by Dutch sailors who, thinking them to be a part of Greenland, named them "New Land."

This picture of the Duchess Dowager of Rutland shows that Lady Diana inherits much of her great beauty from her mother.

The Duchess of Rutland

HER GRACE, the Duchess Dowager of Rutland, widow of the eighth Duke, is the talented mother of a talented daughter, Lady Diana Manners, who played the leading part in "The Miracle."

The Duchess, who is the inseparable companion of her daughter while they are traveling in this country, has become acquainted with Clicquot Club Ginger Ale and considers it a most delightful drink.

She says: "An enticing drink, delightful in flavor and most refreshing; I am very pleased that I have come to know Clicquot Club Ginger Ale."

Two flavors to choose from

You can now get Clicquot Club Ginger Ale in two flavors. The new Pale Dry Clicquot is very delicate and subtle in taste. The Golden Clicquot is more gingery, a particularly invigorating drink; for a generation the most popular of all bottled beverages the nation over. Clicquot Club Ginger Ale, noted for its high quality, also gives more generous quantity and at a very reasonable price. The Clicquot Club Company, Millis, Massachusetts.

MORE SUPER-GOVERNMENT

In both the American and English systems of government the right of the legislature to refuse money to the executive has been long regarded as a corner stone of political liberty, as the very fundamental right upon which political democracy has been built. It is not surprising, therefore, that the members of the investigating committee of the United States Senate were not prepared for the cat which Mrs George, president of the Pennsylvania W. C. T. U., innocently let out of the bag when she was called to testify. Mrs. George was plainly under the impression that it was a perfectly good bag and a very nice cat, but the members of the Senate committee gasped in amazement when they saw the creature appear. Pennsylvania has a State act to enforce prohibition and a Governor desirous to do so, but for some reason or other it had a Legislature which failed, as Mrs. George expressed it, "to vote the money the Governor needed to enforce the law." Therefore the ladies of the W. C. T. U. raised the money themselves and paid private salaries to deputy attorneys general and inspectors who were appointed by Governor Pinchot to be the privately owned public officials of the W. C. T. U., thus taking over a part of the government of the State and circumventing the purpose of the regularly elected Legislature in refusing the appropriation.

Without the flicker of an eyelid they destroyed the constitutional right of the Pennsylvania Legislature to control the Executive through its power to withhold funds. They committed a revolutionary act and established a super-government without a moment's hesitation. Probably these women did not quite realize what they were aiding Governor Pinchot in doing, but if they had we may be sure that it would not have made any difference. For of course they are converts to the reform-lobby theory, which seems particularly dear to the prohibition lobby, that the end justifies the means. Only let the purpose be good, or be believed to be good, and it does not matter what means are employed to carry it through, whether extra-constitutional or even morally reprehensible.

To establish a kind of super-government by buying up, frightening or otherwise influencing legislators is the aim of all lobbies, whether backed by impetuous reformers or coldly-calculating business interests. The reformers do not stop to consider that the same thing can be done for an evil as well as for a good purpose, or that the assault on the integrity or freedom of a legislative body is as demoralizing in effect in the one case as in the other. The effort is to control from the outside the duly elected representatives of the people, and when it succeeds government has broken down. In this Pennsylvania instance the aim to control actually took the form of usurpation of power. The direct defiance of the Legislature and bold usurpation of its powers furnish the most astonishing example of this increasing evil on record.

PERIODICAL INVESTIGATION.

Consumption of gasoline during first four months of this year exceed that of any similar period—more than 20 per cent greater than first quarter consumption last year. Surplus stocks have been greatly reduced, and an unusually heavy summer demand is expected. A slight increase in price of crude oil and gasoline has resulted from these unsurpassed demands, and the Senate has directed the Federal Trade Commission to investigate the situation, alleging price-fixing methods.

This may result in much testimony being taken during the summer but the industry appears to have become accustomed to these investigations, as they have been in almost continuous progress since the close of the war. They all cost the taxpayers money, but they furnish campaign material and jobs for public employes.

As most of the big nations have exhausted their quotas, it might be supposed that nationals of all the countries of the world are eagerly awaiting a further opportunity to get into the United States, yet we read that many small nations have not only taken no advantage of their existing privileges but appear to be wholly indifferent to the entire percentages of admission we have graciously awarded them. These include Arabia, Siam, Togoland, Liberia, Yap, Tanganyka, Monaco, Andorra, Nepal and Nauru—wherever that may be. But perhaps our immigration officials are willing to concede in their favor that they don't know any better.

FOOD AND POSTURE.

About three years ago I spoke about the advisability of lying on the right side for a period of ten minutes, about an hour before the next meal. This permitted any food still lying in the stomach to syphon out into the intestine, thus allowing the stomach to be perfectly empty and ready for the next meal.

A research man has been investigating this matter of lying on the right or left side and the way it affects the stomach contents. He had thirty-six subjects under experiment.

The first week the subjects were tried out on the right side and a week later put through the same tests lying on the left side. The test was simply a barium or bismuth meal, and the subjects were made to lie on one side during the experiment, their position being changed just long enough to get the X-ray picture.

An X-ray picture was taken every half hour until the stomach was completely empty.

The result was most interesting. When they lay on the right side the stomach was emptied within three and a half hours. It was different when the patient lay on the left side. At first there appeared to be no difference in the rate of emptying, but in a short time the food actually remained stationary for almost two hours before it started to move out of the stomach. Thus in the same individual the same amount of food took just two hours longer to get out of the stomach when he lay on his left side, than when on his right side.

Is this knowledge worth anything to you?

If you are below par physically you can readily see that if you were lying down all the time, and had the "left side" habit, you might easily be supplied with another meal before the previous one had left the stomach. This might naturally cause some distress and gas pains, possibly nausea and vomiting, with consequent weakness and depression.

If you are well but have meals close together, and you have been lying on the left side between meals, you could easily suffer in the same manner.

Your best plan then is to try to spread your meals so far apart that the stomach will be completely emptied before the next meal, irrespective of whether you are lying on right or left side, or standing or sitting. The ten to fifteen minute period lying on the right side before each meal, should be of help to all sufferers with indigestion.

Religious Sect Founded by Jemima Wilkinson Soon Dispersed After Her Death, July 1, 1819.

Jemima Wilkinson, religious visionary and imposter, died in Jerusalem, Yates County, N. Y., July 1, 1819, and after her death the peculiar sect of which she was the supreme head was entirely broken up and dispersed.

Jemima was born in Cumberland, R. I., November 29, 1752, daughter of Jeremiah and Elizabeth Whipple Wilkinson; she was reared as a Quaker, but was brought under the influence of the preaching of George Whitefield, and when she was eighteen years of age a most marked change in her life was the result.

In 1775 she had a severe attack of fever, and for some time her life was despaired of. Upon her recovery she claimed she had been raised from the dead, that her carnal life was ended, and that henceforth her body was reanimated by the spirit and power of Christ. She pretended to work miracles, and, though entirely illiterate, induced many intelligent people to become her followers. Her attractive person and extraordinary tact and shrewdness aiding her in maintaining the imposture.

She preached in Providence and all the principal towns of the state; proclaiming everywhere to large assemblages the message which, she claimed, had been given to her to utter. Among her converts was Judge William Potter, of South Kingston, who built a large addition to his mansion for her accommodation. She made his home her headquarters for about six years.

At a general meeting of the sect held in Connecticut, in 1786, it was resolved to emigrate to some unsettled region and found a colony where they might live in peace and in the undisturbed enjoyment of their religious opinions. Three of their number proceeded to Pennsylvania, went up the Susquehanna River to Seneca Lake, in New York where they finally determined to locate.

In June, 1787, twenty-five "Friends," as the members of the sect were called, set out for the land of promise by way of the Mohawk Valley. They settled in the present town of Torrey, Yates County, in close proximity to the fine waterfalls upon Crooked Lake Outlet, six miles from Penn Yan. They sowed winter wheat which they harvested in 1789; which was the first wheat crop raised in Western New York.

In 1789 Judge Potter and Thomas Hathaway, two of their number, purchased of the state 14,000 acres of land in that vicinity, to which was afterward added the town of Jerusalem.

The same year Jemima and a large number of her followers came, and a house was erected for her. This was the first framed house in the county.

She had taken the name of "Universal Friend," and assumed a costume which belonged about equally to either sex, as she asserted that in her spiritual body there was no sex. Her fame extended throughout the country and across the ocean. It is said that visitors of rank and distinction from the South, from France and England, frequently enjoyed her hospitality.

She was accompanied by two witnesses, Sarah Richards and Rachel Miller and insisted on the Shaker doctrine of celibacy. She exacted from her followers the most complete submission and the most menial services, her influence over them being practically supreme.

The credulity of her disciples was as remarkable as their subjection to her whims. The order to fast forty days on bread and water, or to wear a cow-bell on the neck, or sojourn in Nova Scotia for three years, if given by her was submissively complied with, for was she not the Second Coming of Christ, fulfilling the prophecy in Revelations?

A farm of one thousand acres was set apart for her special use, and cultivated freely by her followers.

The exercises of her religious meetings resembled those of the Shaker sect. When she preached she stood in the door of her bedchamber, wearing a waist coat, stock and white silk cravat. She never relinquished her pretensions, but after some years her influence waned, and the latter part of her life was embittered by jealousies and annoyances which she bore with no great fortitude. She was several times prosecuted for blasphemy, and was harassed by law suits, which were chiefly instigated by those who had once been her followers and friends.

Though she recommended poverty, her dupes enabled her to live in luxury, and she owned lands that were purchased in the name of Rachel Miller.

Deeds the Same, Fewer Mortgages

During the month of June there were 326 deeds and other conveyances filed for record at the office of the Ulster county clerk, being the same number as were filed during June 1925. There were 81 less mortgages filed during June this year than there were during June 1925. The number in June this year was 279, while in June 1925 there were 360 filed.

Discovery an Accident

Charles Goodyear, who discovered the process of vulcanizing rubber, expended all his means in experiments with various mixtures and processes which should remedy the fatal defects of India rubber in its natural state, since it is brittle in cold weather and sticky in warm weather. The great secret of vulcanizing, a process in which the two substances, submitted to a high temperature, are converted into elastic, enduring, heat and cold-defying material, now in use, was an accidental discovery made by Goodyear while standing by a stove and idly subjecting a mixture of rubber and sulphur to its heat.

Belief in Toad Stone

W. J. Rolfe in his notes on "As You Like It," says: "Better naturalists than Shakespeare believed in the toad stone, the 'precious jewel' of the text Fenton, in his 'Secrete Wonders of Nature' (1569), says that 'there is founde in the heades of old and great toades, a stone which they call borax or steion; it is most commonly founde in the head of a hee toad, of power to repulse poysons and that it is a most soveraigne medicine for that stone.'" Allusions to it are frequent in the literature of that day.

Form of Food Poisoning

The word "botulism" is derived from the Latin word "botulus," meaning a sausage, and was probably first applied in cases of food poisoning originating from eating sausage. Afterward it was applied to other forms of food poisoning having the same characteristics.

Wind Withers Entire Crop

The Chinook is an ever-welcome wind, but there is another hot wind that is decidedly the reverse. Farmers in the West and Southwest have seen their crops withered in a few hours by the coming of this visitor, says an American Magazine writer. Several years ago this hot wind struck the West at about 10:30 a. m., and in less than three hours the temperature had mounted to almost 120 degrees. In Kansas two men died while trying to go from Iola to Humboldt, a distance of eight miles. Three others were out with their teams at Humboldt. The horses died and the men almost succumbed.

Scarcely a chicken was left alive in that section. Hogs and cattle dropped in their tracks, suffocated by the rush of hot air.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

By Mary Graham Bonner

THE DORCAS GAZELLE

"Do you think I care a whit about reputation?" asked Mr. Dorcas Gazelle, a cousin of the Deer family.

"I'm sure I don't know," said Mrs. Dorcas Gazelle, smiling.

From the way he spoke one would have thought Mrs. Dorcas Gazelle might have been very much frightened, but not a bit of it.

She knew her Mr Gazelle better than others did.

She was not afraid of him, not she.

"Well, I don't," said Mr. Dorcas Gazelle.

"Then if you don't care about it," said Mrs. Dorcas, "you would be wise, seems to me, to leave it alone.

"Once I had something to eat which made me feel quite ill.

"I didn't like it to start with, and yet I ate it. That was a most extremely foolish thing to do.

"When a creature doesn't care about a thing—leave it alone, I say!"

Mr. Dorcas Gazelle laughed hard and then he patted Mrs. Dorcas with his right horn.

He didn't hurt her, he just patted her gently.

"My dear," he said, "I didn't mean that I had eaten something I hadn't cared about.

"Reputation isn't a food."

"Oh, isn't it?" asked Mrs. Dorcas, "I didn't know. I thought it must be some sort of a food—like rhubarb, for example."

"No," said Mr. Dorcas, "a reputation is a general opinion about a creature.

"For instance, if I am very bad I get a bad reputation—that is, folks

Supposed to Be Sweet and Gentle.

think bad of me, and if I am good I get a good reputation and they think well of me. See?"

"I do, both with my eyes and with my understanding," said Mrs. Dorcas, who didn't wish to appear too stupid.

"But I don't care about a reputation," said Mr. Gazelle.

"In the first place, I have rather a bad one. A gazelle is supposed to be sweet and gentle, but I am not in the least gentle with strangers.

"I get horribly angry with them.

"I am delicate and so are you, but we thrive in the zoo and make the most of what we have.

"Yet, I cannot be friendly with the people I see.

"So I have the reputation for having a terrible disposition."

"You are always good to me," said Mrs. Gazelle.

"But I do know you don't care for people. In fact, you broke off a part of your right horn once in a rage.

"But I think it's better to be kind to your own mate than to anyone else and you are a dear, good gazelle in your own home or cage."

Mr. Dorcas Gazelle smiled sweetly at his mate.

"Those words are pleasant to hear," he said.

"They are true," said Mrs. Dorcas Gazelle. "In fact," she added, "I think I will send a Zoolet to the Zoolet society about you."

So Mrs. Dorcas Gazelle sent this Zoolet to the Zoolet society, which is a society in which the zoo animals send verses about themselves or about each other, and afterward Billie Brownie takes many of them and publishes them in Naturelands News so that the Fairies and Elves and Brownies and Gnomes can read them.

This was the Zoolet:

Mr. Gazelle is a very kind mate,
With him I'll always share my fate,
He may be cross to thou and thee,
But he is always sweet to me!

Her Last Name

The little girl lost herself and the traffic officer was doing his best to find out where she lived.

"What is your name?"

"Hazel."

"What is your last name?"

"My name is Hazel."

"Hazel what? What name comes after Hazel?"

"I don't know what it will be—I am not married yet."—Charleston News and Courier.

Arab Autos a Problem

In Bahrein, northern Arabia, where there is great wealth, automobiles have displaced every carriage but one and are fast displacing donkeys. About 100 cars are in operation, mostly taxis. A few large cars are owned by sheiks and wealthy pearl merchants. An excess of "joy riding" by the pearl divers when, after weeks of hard living, they return to town flushed with money brought about an ordinance forbidding men and women to ride in the same car.

Local Lutherans Observe Sesqui Of Famous Deeds

To Honor Achievements of Lutheran Leaders In Revolutionary Days—Special Services at Church of The Redeemer Sunday.

In Lutheran pulpits throughout the entire land, special observances will be made Sunday, July 4, of the sesqui-centennial of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, and the sesqui-centennial of active Lutheran participation in the stirring events of Revolutionary War days.

Special attention will be directed to the dramatic occasion at Emmanuel Lutheran Church, Woodstock, Virginia, in January, 1776, when the pastor, the Rev. John Peter Gabriel Muhlenberg, preached his farewell sermon to his little flock. At the close of the sermon the pastor descended from his pulpit, flung aside his ministerial robe in the now historic gesture and strode to the church yard in the full uniform of an officer of the Continental Army, recruiting nearly 300 volunteers for service under him.

The records indicate that Muhlenberg's farewell sermon closed with the statement in the language of holy writ, "there is a time for all things—a time to preach and a time to pray—but those times have passed away." And then, in a voice that echoed like a trumpet blast through the church, he declared that "there is a time to fight, and that time has now come."

Before the close of the war Pastor Muhlenberg rose to the rank of major-general under George Washington, commander-in-chief of the armies, and his activity and success in many campaigns was so striking as to be remarked by every historian of the period.

Gen. Peter Muhlenberg's brother, the Rev. Frederick A. Muhlenberg, also laid aside the cloth to answer the call of patriotism. An understanding of law and the principles of democracy, learned through active participation in the sessions of the Lutheran Ministorium of Pennsylvania, served him in good stead when he was made a member of the Continental Congress and later as president of the Pennsylvania legislature, president of the state convention ratifying the Federal Constitution, and as First Speaker of the national House of Representatives.

The father of these two illustrious brothers was the Rev. Henry Melchior Muhlenberg, pastor, missionary, and "patriarch of the Lutheran Church in the American Colonies," who is credited with having laid the foundations of the present strength and greatness of the denomination in the United States and Canada.

The services of the Lutheran Church of The Redeemer, at Wurts and Rogers streets, will have a special service Sunday morning next, in line with this general celebration. The pastor, the Rev. William J. Nelson, will preach an appropriate sermon and the musical features by the choir and organist will be in keeping with the spirit of the occasion.

Only Weak Can Find "Refuge" in Suicide

Accounts of suicide in the news are almost always depressing. They lessen one's confidence in the strength of the human spirit. They may arouse pity, it is true, but except in unusual circumstances this is pity based upon a recognition of weakness.

For suicide, speaking generally, is an abject confession of defeat, of complete failure of courage. And it signifies so narrow a vision, so limited an interest, for any man to say that in all the wide world nothing is left for him.

Consider the words Jasper Petulengro, the Norfolk gypsy, spoke to George Borrow:

"Life is sweet, brother."

"Do you think so?"

"Think so! There's night and day, brother, both sweet things; sun, moon and stars, brother, all sweet things; there's likewise the wind on the heath. Life is very sweet, brother; who would wish to die?"

"I would wish to die—"

"You talk like a giorgio—which is the same as talking like a fool—were you a gypsy chal you would talk wiser. Wish to die, indeed! A Romany chal would wish to live forever!"

"In sickness, Jasper?"

"There's the sun and stars, brother."

"In blindness, Jasper?"

"There's the wind on the heath, brother; if I could only feel that, I would gladly live forever."—San Francisco Chronicle.

Return to Normalcy After the Big Fight

Little Elspeth and a friend were playing about the house and having seen the fire apparatus go down the street, thought it would be a lot of fun to play fire. So they shouted "Fire! Fire!" until Elspeth's mother came rushing in from the back yard crying, "Where? Where?"

Upon learning that it was all a joke, she sent Elspeth to her room, with the admonition never to play that game again, and went to her own room to take a nap.

The quiet was soon broken by a monotonous thump, thump, thump on the stairs and there was Elspeth, attired in her best coat and gloves, dragging her doll's trunk down to the front door.

"I is going to find a lady that wants a little girl," she said determinedly, but finally was persuaded that no one wants a little girl half as much as her own mother.

Cuddled at last in her mother's arms, Elspeth sighed contentedly and then said:

"Now zat you are my own good muvver an' the big fight is over, s'pose we go an' unpack."

Soup Early Human Food

The art of soup making is one of the oldest forms of cookery of which we have any knowledge whatever. It denoted a distinct step forward of the civilization of the world when man learned that game which he trapped or killed might be prepared by a process of "stone boiling," affording him a broth and a meat in place of the charred product which hitherto he had cooked over the hot coals. The skin of the animal was his soup kettle in which he placed the meat and covered it with water. Then the improvised stock pot was hung in some convenient spot, and stones, heated in the fire, were placed in it, one after the other as they became cool, until finally, after hours of toil, the broth was ready for serving.

Discord Her Specialty

In classic mythology, Eris was the goddess of discord, and the sister of the war god Mars. In the legend of the Trojan war, Eris was the goddess who, indignant that she was the only one of all the gods and goddesses who was not invited to the marriage festivities of Peleus and Thetis, threw into the midst of the guests a golden apple, known since as the "apple of discord," which bore the inscription "For the fairest of the fair." The rivalry of the three deities, Hera, Athene and Aphrodite, for the gift was left to the judgment of Paris, the son of the king of Troy, who, being appointed umpire by Zeus, bestowed it on Aphrodite.—Kansas City Star.

Van Curler Hotel Pays Dividend

The Van Curler Hotel, the Schenectady link in the American Hotels Corporation chain, opened about a year ago, will pay on August 1 a dividend of two per cent on its $700,000 of capital stock. This is the first dividend paid by the Van Curler and is regarded as satisfactory evidence of the prosperity of the first year of operation.

LAST NIGHT on THE RADIO

The WDBZ program for some reason was not as strong in volume as usual, but was very clear. It began on time. The singing by Miss Jessie M. Cowley was very pleasing. Miss Cowley's voice transmits well and radio fans hope to hear her frequently.

Tony Turck's Romance of Rhythm Orchestra gave a lively program, light but not too jazzy and entirely free from cheap clowning acts. WDBZ was brought up to date by the playing of "Animal Crackers" and the radio bugs may yet hear "Horses" from their home station, especially if they support the station by kind words and other things even more useful in paying bills. "Animal Crackers" was so appreciated that an encore was demanded and joyfully given.

Of course you could "hear WDBZ all over the dial" if you adjusted your set that way. But if you adjusted your set that way you shouldn't complain of anything except your own lack of skill and sense. No ground connection, low power in the tubes and a shortened aerial will sharpen tuning and cut out WDBZ or almost anything else. It will also reduce static interference and aleri blooping.

WJBI, Red Bank, N. J., loomed up again in good volume and clearness.

WBZ was also in good form, but the west was very generally dead, until a late hour. WHT, on its short wave, came through much interference from other short wave stations and WLS and other Chicago stations broke through later, accompanied by some static.

If you heard a lot of messages and gabbling about 9AAW and other things, it was WJAZ sending messages to the far north.

WCCO came through late but clear. It was not a very good night for radio reception either and yet the "no radio in summer" crepe hangers persist. WOC also gave proof that there is DX in summer.

WSBC, Chicago, not easy to tune clear from WBNY, both 209.7 meters, was unusually loud and clear.

SAMSONVILLE.

Samsonville, July 1.—The church people will meet in the hall on Monday, July 5. In the afternoon refreshments will be on sale, and supper will be served at 5 o'clock. All friends are cordially invited to attend.

Leah Shurter visited Daisy Myers on Sunday afternoon.

Maude Shurter is spending some time at 350 Hasbrouck avenue, Kingston.

We are sorry to know Mrs. F. M. Davis is sick again. Her daughter, Mildred, and husband of New York spent the week end with her.

Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Short of Wittenberg and daughter, Ruth, and family of Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. George Zelie and son, George, visited Mrs. Short's brother, H. L. Myers.

S. K. Bishop of Wittenberg is spending some time with his daughter, Mrs. Jennie Myers.

Harry Christiana and friend of Stuyvesant-on-Hudson called on his aunt, Drusilla Bevier, one day last week.

Many friends from here attended the funeral at Tongore church on Monday of L. D. Beesmer. Elder George Ruston of Kelly's Corners officiated. There was a large attendance.

R. E. Davis spent Sunday with his family.

Florence Barringer, Leah Shurter and Daisy Myers were cleaning the hall on Tuesday, getting ready for the Fourth of July party on Monday.

WHAT ARE INSTALLMENT SHARES?

Simply this—shares purchased on the installment plan. A payment of one dollar a month (the first month $1.25) purhases one Installment Share.

This Share becomes MATURED—fully purchased—when these monthly payments PLUS the earnings or dividends on the same equal $200. The holder then receives in cash from us $200 for each matured share.

We are not permitted to guarantee the number of payments required to mature a share, but our experience of more than 30 years shows that it takes approximately 144 monthly payments to mature an Installment Share.

This means that $1.00 a month for 144 months or $144, earns $56, profits or dividends. Our DIVIDENDS are compounded semi-annually and our last dividend was at the rate of 5½% a year.

FIVE Shares would mean paying in $5.00 a month and drawing out $1,000, at maturity. TEN Shares—$10 a month and receiving $2,000.

These shares may be withdrawn at any time before maturity, the Association paying back all your deposits plus 90% of the dividends credited.

These Installment Shares are especially designed to meet the systematic savings desires of the salaried person or wage earner. The number of shares purchased is readily adjusted to the portion of salary or wages one feels able to save regularly.

A new Issue or Series (69-A) of these Installment shares commences July 2.

WHAT ARE PREPAID SHARES?

Simply this—Shares fully purchased in one payment. Under the State Banking Law—which controls all our business—these shares cost $100 each, plus an entrance fee of 25 cents a share. Purchase as many shares as you wish.

DIVIDENDS are declared semi-annually. Part of such dividends may be demanded in cash and the balance is added to the value of the shares, or, at the holder's option, all the dividends may be accumulated and all accumulations are compounded, very much the same, you observe, as depositing in a Savings Bank.

OUR last dividend rate, however, was 5½% and for many years past, our dividend rates has been 5%.

These PREPAID SHARES, with their accumulated dividends to date may be withdrawn at any time, on demand.

Our money is invested in first mortgages on improved real estate—mostly in Kingston—and all mortgages are repaid in monthly installments of principal and interest—$1.00 a month for each $100 borrowed.

This is a safe method of loaning—an easy way of paying back the loan.

Our purpose is to help the borrower become a HOME OWNER and at the same time to offer the investor a good return for the use of his money which is loaned to the borrowing member. Our method accomplishes both of these purposes. More than 30 years of business in Kingston has proved this assertion.

PREPAID SHARES purchased by July 10 will draw dividends from July 1.

The Kingston Co-operative Savings & Loan Association, 293 Wall Street, Kingston, N. Y.

Regular Monthly Meeting will be held July 2, from 7:30 to 9 P. M., at the above address.

Shagbark Club Opening Party

Invitations Issued for Dance and Buffet Lunch to be Held in Rustic Dance Hall Monday Evening—Planning for Art Exhibitions at Colony Club.

Invitations were issued today for the opening party in the rustic dance hall at the Shagbark Colony Club on the Woodstock-Saugerties road, to be held on Monday evening, when dancing will be enjoyed and a buffet luncheon served. Many of the prominent residents of Kingston and Ulster county have received invitations by mail for the event and those who have not received an invitation may communicate with Mrs Mollie Higgins Smith at her home in Woodstock.

The Shagbark Colony Club is located on the former Cadwell farm, about half way between Woodstock and Saugerties, and has about six hundred acres of land. The contract has been let for the construction of a big swimming pool on the property and work will be started this week. It is expected that the pool will be completed within one month.

The huge barn on the property, which is 55x100 feet, has been remodelled into a rustic dance hall and the completion of the work will be celebrated by the opening party Monday evening.

There is also located on the property the Shagbark Inn, which will be opened shortly after July 10. The promoters of the club are also planning to build an 18-hole golf course on the property.

Mollie Higgins Smith of Woodstock and New York, who is with The Anderson Galleries of New York, and who is interested in the development, will have charge of the proposed art exhibitions to be held in the future and will also have charge of the social activities of the club.

It is planned to make the Shagbark Colony Club an all year round resort.

Nested in Lamp Post

A few years ago in a London suburb a pair of blue tits built their nest inside a lamp post. The birds entered just under the glass, but they probably went right to the bottom and made their mossy home on the ground. In this dark but perfectly safe place a large family was reared. The remarkable sequel was that six years later several lamp posts in the district were occupied by blue tits.

Restrictions on Friendship

Granting that we had both the will and the sense to choose our friends well, how few of us have the power! Nearly all our associations are determined by chance, or necessity and restricted within a narrow circle. We cannot know whom we would; and those whom we know we cannot have at our side when we most need them.—Ruskin.

In the Kitchen with 6 Famous Cooks

EASY MEALS FOR HOT WEATHER

(Editor's Note: This is one article in an unusual cooking series contributed to this paper by six famous cooks.)

Where is the woman who enjoys cooking hearty meals in hot weather? We doubt if such a woman exists. She may cook big meals because some members of her family who toil hard demand them, but certainly not because she herself derives any real pleasure from hot weather cooking.

MISS ROSA MICHAELIS

With a little planning and forethought, however, many of the discomforts of cooking in hot weather can be avoided. For instance, as Miss Rosa Michaelis, New Orleans domestic science specialist, points out, an oil stove is much easier to work with than a coal or wood range.

"It is much more convenient," she says. "It needs no flues," and hence may be taken to the coolest part of the house easily, as it is not very heavy.

Just a Little Planning

"The woman who gets her kitchen work done early in the morning, and most of her food prepared," continues Miss Michaelis, "is the coolest cook. She just needs to do a little simple planning.

"The fewer roasts and baked dishes in the summer, the cooler the kitchen. I recommend uncooked desserts mostly, too. Fruits are all one needs during the hot weather."

In the summer time Miss Michaelis does as much of her cooking as possible on the top of the stove, using only as many burners as are absolutely necessary.

"If a woman feels she has to bake," Miss Michaelis says, "she should not use her oven every day in the week during hot weather, but bake enough to last several days or a week."

A dinner which Miss Michaelis recommends as particularly easy to prepare in hot weather is all cooked in one pot. It conserves utensils, time and fuel.

A Dinner in One Kettle

To prepare it take a soup pot filled with enough water to cover three pounds of brisket. Season with salt. After the soup has boiled for an hour lower the flame and let it simmer for half an hour. Add one bunch of carrots, a bunch of turnips and a pound of potatoes, and cook for another half hour.

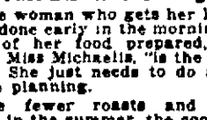

When ready, take out carrots. Dice and sprinkle with chopped parsley. Take out turnips and mash with butter, adding a teaspoon of sugar if desired.

Serve potatoes mashed. Take out meat and fry with onions, or serve with a tomato sauce.

Add a Salad and Dessert

Now with a salad, dessert, and beverage, one has a complete meal, including soup, and all cooked on one flame!

For salad, Miss Michaelis suggests pears halved, on lettuce leaves, covered with French dressing. Fruit makes a good dessert to accompany this easy meal.

Another Easy Meal

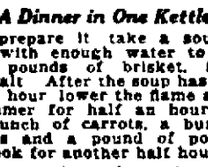

Mrs. Sarah Tyson Rorer, the famous Philadelphia cooking expert, gives the menu for a simple meal which takes but an hour to prepare. It's a vegetable dinner. Mrs Rorer gives proportions for serving four.

Fried squash
Dutched cabbage
Chili sauce
Candied sweet potatoes
Canned apples
Watermelon

"Go to the kitchen at 11 o'clock, if dinner is to be served at 12," says Mrs Rorer. "If you use oil, your stove is ready for immediate use. Light two burners, and put on two saucepans half full of water. Cover, and turn to full heat.

"Wash five medium sized sweet potatoes. Chop fine one small, hard head of cabbage. The water is now boiling in both pans. Put the potatoes in one and cover. Add a teaspoon of salt to the other, and put in the cabbage. Turn flame down and cook cabbage uncovered for half an hour.

"Slice three tart apples in a baking dish. Add half a cup of sugar, and partly cover with water. Light oven burner, and after three minutes put apples on upper rack, covering the dish.

To Candy the Sweets

"The sweet potatoes are now tender. Drain, peel, and cut them in halves. Place in shallow baking pan, adding two tablespoons of butter, four of sugar, and four of water. Put pan in oven under the apples.

"Put four tablespoons of cooking fat in a shallow frying pan over one burner. Drain cabbage and return to saucepan. Add a tablespoon of butter, three of vinegar, half a teaspoon of salt, and a dash of pepper. Cover to keep warm.

"Fry the squash and drain on brown paper. Turn the sweet potatoes. Take out the apples. Dish the squash. Dish the cabbage and sweet potatoes. Turn out all the burners.

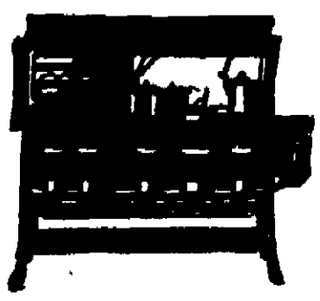

"This is a very simple meal to prepare," Mrs. Rorer concludes. "And even though you do use the oven it is for such a short time that the kitchen does not become excessively heated."

If you take the advice of famous cooks, you will keep your summer cooking as simple as possible. It doesn't pay to work too hard in the kitchen in hot weather.

ROSE-GORMAN-ROSE

A COOL KITCHEN all summer long!

Take a tip from the six famous cooks who tested Perfection.

Be cool!

Hot days are coming! Escape sizzling kitchens and wood or coal drudgery. Six famous cooks recommend the Perfection for cool cooking. Here's what they say.

"THE food gets all the heat—the kitchen none," says Miss Rosa Michaelis, New Orleans cooking expert. "In the Perfection burner," she explains, "the heat is confined directly to the bottom of the cooking pot. That means cool cooking!"

Mrs. Belle DeGraf, the San Francisco authority, suggests Perfection "top stove" cooking for hot summer days.

Least Time, Least Heat

"When I fried chicken, glazed sweet potatoes and boiled pineapple pudding," she relates, "I used only the top of the Perfection. The food cooked quickly and efficiently—and of course, the shorter the cooking time, the cooler the kitchen." That means cool cooking.

"Yes, and remember," adds Mrs. Kate V. Vaughn, famous Los Angeles Home Economist, "the least fire in your stove through the day, the cooler the kitchen. With Perfections no time is lost in heat generation because cooking begins with the touch of a match to the wick."

No Hot Extra Work

"Then, too, the Perfection saves a world of extra work," says Mrs. Sarah Tyson Rorer, pioneer cooking specialist of Philadelphia, "no wood or coal to carry in nor ashes to carry out."

At Battle Creek College of Home Economics, the nutrition expert, Margaret Allen Hall, speaks of still another "no extra work" point.

"The Perfection," says Miss Hall, "is easily moved from one room to another. Move it to the summer kitchen, out on the back porch—wherever it's coolest. You don't need to bake yourself while cooking meals."

Cool to Work With

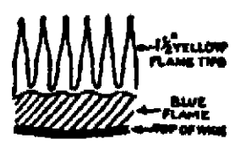

The "single row" arrangement of Perfection burners gives you another advantage. Miss Lucy G. Allen of the Boston School of Cookery notices this.

"With the Perfection," she makes clear, "there is no reaching across hot flames as with a gas or coal range. You stay away from the direct heat, yourself."

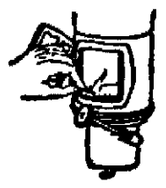

You can escape all those things that make summer cooking the most unpleasant of hot tasks. Your dealer will show you the Perfection today—from the one-burner model at $6.75 to the five-burner range at $120. Six famous cooks tested this stove thoroughly and now pronounce it ideal for hot weather. "Buy a Perfection," they say, "be cool!"

Hathaway Finds Same Pavement

Tells Rotarians of Growth of Pueblo, Colorado, Which He Visited While Attending International Rotary Convention—Laid Pavement as City Engineer of Pueblo in 1912.

Speech-making time at the Rotary luncheon this week was chiefly taken up by President E. W. Hathaway, who gave an interesting talk on some of his adventures and experiences in connection with his recent trip to Denver, where he attended the International Rotary convention.

Denver was so crowded that although Mr. Hathaway had made reservation in March he found the room to which he had been assigned occupied and was shunted about and stood in line two hours before finally finding quarters in a fourth-class hotel. Notwithstanding this, the convention proceedings and the big outdoor welcoming spectacle staged in the Denver stadium amply rewarded him for the trip.

One outstanding bit of legislation was a provision that a visiting Rotarian going in good faith to attend a meeting regularly announced and finding that the meeting had been cancelled would in future receive credit for attendance.

The growth of Denver since 1912, when Mr. Hathaway was last there prior to his visit in June, impressed him greatly, but he was even more delighted with the growth of Pueblo, where he formerly resided and where he was for a number of years city engineer. When he left Pueblo, in 1912, it had only one short stretch of well paved street, this pavement being laid under Mr. Hathaway's direction. This pavement is still in good condition and the city now has all of its streets paved; any of the pavement is equal to Kingston's best and much of it is superior, without crack or sign of crumbling. Both concrete and asphalt paving has been used.

One visiting Rotarian, Bert N. McGee of Jackson, Mich., was present at the luncheon and spoke briefly, and several of the survivors of the delegation that attended the opening of the Hendrick Hudson at Troy the night before were also able to be present.

Engineering Problem

The possibility of a sea-level canal at Panama was discussed, but deemed unwise. The sea-level canal projected would have been a narrow channel winding in and out the hills, too narrow for half its length for the largest ships to pass. Currents caused by the Chagres river and by the flow of other streams into the canal would have made navigation somewhat dangerous.

From Berries or Cherries to Jam or Jelly

In Fifteen Minutes

Do you know the new short-boil Certo method of making jams and jellies, which makes success certain? No longer need you have any fears as to the result, for the "set" is perfect every time. And the drudgery is gone, too. For instead of tedious lengthy cooking, one or two minutes boiling is enough when Certo is used.

This short cooking saves the bright natural color and the fresh flavor of the fruit. Besides it avoids the great waste of boiling away the juice, so that the actual cost of your jams and jellies made the Certo way is about two cents a glass less than by the tiresome old-fashioned method.

Greater ease, better jelly, lower cost—this is a combination which naturally appeals to women everywhere. A book of simple recipes for all sorts of delicious jams, jellies and marmalades, comes with each bottle of Certo.

Your grocer carries Certo, or you can send 10c (for postage) and get a trial half-size bottle which will make from 6 to 10 glasses of jam or jelly, depending upon the recipe used. Address Douglas-Pectin Corporation, 5492 Granite Building, Rochester, N. Y.

FRECKLES

Tells How to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots and Have a Beautiful Complexion.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othine from any drug or department store and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove your freckles.

On Fashions

The Ensemble of the Moment Is Not So Easily Recognized as That of Last Year, Yet Details Are Chosen in Considering One For the Other.

One hears less and less about the ensemble, yet there is a distinct tendency to link up one unit of the costume with another, a decided inclination to set aside a particular coat for a particular dress and to have not only a hat, but shoes and handbags to complete each costume. One is, however, less conscious of the ensemble ideas because of the cleverness with which it is assembled and the ease with which colors and fabrics are combined to make a harmonious whole. The short, rather than long, coat constitutes another difference, the substitution of a cape for a coat still another.

Those who journey to the other side for new ideas continue to return with the statement that there is nothing new to be seen, yet despite this, fashion does change, novelties continue to appear though sometimes unheralded. Sometimes it is the return of something so old as to make its reappearance seem a matter of small moment. Sometimes it is the launching of something so extreme that its success is bound to be short lived, yet there are always the sartorially blase who can find nothing new, not only in Paris but under the sun.

The Dress, in Two-Piece Development, Treated in Bolero Fashion, a Wide Red Leather Belt Defining the Cut of the Bodice. The Frock Is Done in Blue Linen With Scarlet Embroidery and Linen Strappings. The Bag of Quilted Chintz, With Amber Frame.

To those who have not realized that black went out of fashion, the report that Paris is wearing black seems stale. To those who subscribe to the belief that navy is always "good", it seems absurd to report the vogue of navy, yet who would have imagined that we could have gone so long without it? Reds continue to focus attention, not only because of their high visibility, but because they are really important.

Paris Night Life Is Always Interesting—Here One Gets a Suggestion, at Least, of What Certain Fashionables Wear.

Everyone who knows Paris, the Paris that is of the moment, knows that The Florida is a popular rendezvous for Americans and that one is certain to find many beautifully dressed women there.

Mrs. Laura Gould appeared recently in a Molyneux gown of white satin, with the skirt embroidered in pearls in a series of overlapping flaps that curved at the hem. A Paquin gown that was admired on the same occasion, was of brick red moire with a Grecian drapery effect, obtained by the narrow belt that was crossed over round the hips and through which the skirt was draped in a double puff on the left side.

Champagne Tulle Over Satin.

Mrs. Corrigan wears the slim straight gowns of tulle embroidered in large pearls. They have sufficient fulness to distinguish them from the sheath dress, and often are bloused at the waist. They are in pale and delicate cream or white.

Lady Davis wears a sheath gown from Callot of pale champagne tulle over satin, and embroidered in pearls in an oriental design of flowers and birds. The hem is divided into a series of layers of petal-shaped panels.

The popularity of the fringed gown is emphasized by a new model worn by Princess Jean de Faucigny Lucinge. A note of gold in the centre of the curved fringes is a pleasant break in the slim sheath of dull beige.

Sabrina Model in Winter.

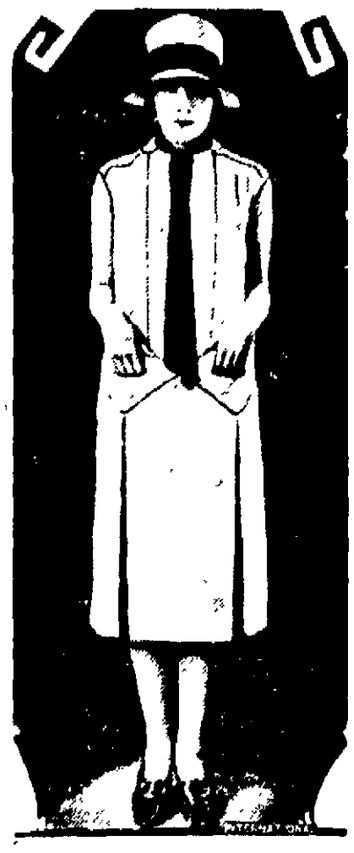

Other fringed gowns that are successful this season are those by Chanel and Patou. The former is the famous bolero model that is seen more in white than in color, while Patou's is one of the most popular examples of the three tiered dress, and is worn with a fringed cape to match.

Princesse Jean de Faucigny Lucinge's white gown with the silver fishscale sequins was the newest note seen at Ciro's. The line was new, with the Zouave corsage and little skirt over a narrow foundation, and the close-packed, overlapping sequins made a bold note of luminance.

An Inlay of Black Is Feature of This Skirt

This attractive sleeveless dress, worn by a prominent motion-picture actress, combines athletic appearance with fashion. The inlay of black in the skirt plaits is a new note. The outfit is of white linen with black bands. The high neck is set off with a mannish straight tie.

Batik Has Been Given More Important Place

Batik—that crude yet attractive coloring which first made its style appearance in scarfs—has been given a more important place in the fashions this season.

There is a touch of these blended colorings splashed on the back of the blouse of the crepe silk frock. The design has a studied carelessness of detail which makes it charming. Beginning at the collar line, the batik colorings fall with a design over the sleeves and at the back of the blouse, forming a yoke. The sleeves are long and snugly cuffed at the wrists, adding the touch of tailored beauty so essential to most two-piece costumes.

Batik takes another form. This time it is used in its more vivid shades and is simulated rather than painted or dyed. Angular blocks of felt, in gay colors, are cut and fitted together in a sort of batik design. These are appliqued to the crown of a large straw hat. Bound with soft velvet, the brim affords a becoming frame for the features.

Suit With Long Jacket Proves Winsome Style

Much has been said of the vogue of the cape ensemble and of the mannish tailleur, with its short trim jacket and equally short trim skirt. Both types are seen in considerable numbers at every gathering of smart women. There is, however, another type which as yet is a bit more exclusive and has not been taken up by the general feminine public.

The suit, composed of a coat reaching almost to the hem of the straight, short skirt, has among its advocates women noted for their keen appreciation of fashion values, and one sees it against a most satisfactory background when it appears on the deck of a transatlantic liner.

As a rule suits of this type are made of novelty tapestry designs, and their soft-toned hues are set off by a shawl collar of fur in a harmonizing tone.

Printed Handkerchiefs Worn Instead of Flowers

The last word in boutonnieres is the magnolia and beautiful ones are being shown in various pastel colorings.

Perhaps you would prefer to wear your hanky instead of a posy. Get one of these little printed georgette handkerchiefs, tie it in a bow and wear it as you would an artificial flower on your sleeve. It is the very latest idea in fashion fads.

Perhaps you have seen these handkerchiefs worn on the slipper in place of a buckle? Quite fetching isn't it?

Scarfs of Polka Dot

Bandana scarfs and sashes made of polka dot materials are worn with some of the severely plain sports frocks. For instance, a blue flannel frock has a blue bandana scarf dotted with huge white polka dots, which is worn carelessly about the V-shaped neckline, knotting low in front. A sash of the same dotted material extends about the hips. Another important frock of navy blue flannel has a polka-dot scarf attached at one shoulder, which extends down the side of the frock in jabot effect, ending in a circular flare at the hemline.

Faton's is one of the most popular examples of the three tired dress, and is worn with a fringed cape to match.

Princesse Jean de Faucigny Lucinge's white gown with the silver fishscale sequins was the newest note seen at Ciro's. The line was new, with the Zouave corsage and little skirt over a narrow foundation, and the close-packed, overlapping sequins made a bold note of luminance.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

Gay, eager ones of vivid hue;

TREASURED RECIPES

A French preparation for soup seasoning which is considered very choice is this: Two ounces each of sweet marjoram, parsley and savory, thyme and lemon peel, and one ounce of sweet basil. The herbs are dried and ground, then all are sifted together until well mixed. This powder, if carefully bottled and corked, will keep for years. Use it sparingly.

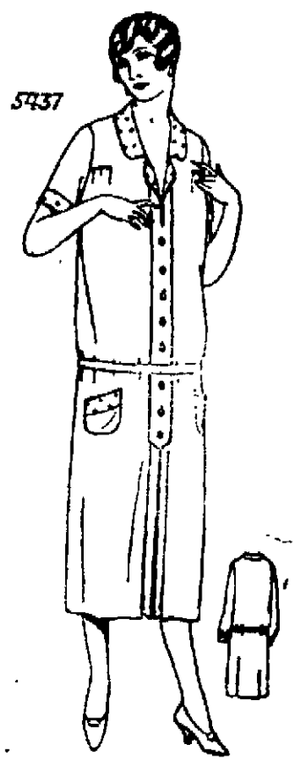

Ever-Lasting Yeast.—Tie three dry yeast cakes in a cheese cloth, add one quart of potato water, three tablespoonfuls of sugar and let stand twelve hours. Remove the yeast and place in a glass jar well covered but not sealed. Use one cupful of the yeast for six loaves of bread. Once or twice a week fill the jar with cooled potato water, using the same amount of liquid as the amount of yeast removed each time. If not enough yeast is used each time take out some each time the potato water is added. This will keep for years as the potato water keeps nourishing new yeast buds.

Olive Oil Pickles. — Cucumber pickles are a bit early yet but it is well to have the recipes ready when the time comes. Take one hundred small cucumbers, three pints of small onions, one pint of olive oil, one ounce each of celery seed and white pepper, one-fourth pound of white mustard seed. Slice the unpeeled cucumbers, cover with one and two-thirds cupfuls of salt, let stand three hours. Slice onions, let stand in cold water to cover, drain and mix all together with spices and oil, pack in jars and fill the jars with good vinegar. Seal and keep very cold.

Mustard Pickles.—To a gallon of vinegar add one-half cupful of mustard, one cupful of salt, and two cupfuls of brown sugar. Drop the young cucumbers into the jar as they are gathered and washed each day. When the jar is full cover with horseradish leaves. They will be good to eat in two weeks.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Pleasing Morning Dress for Women of Mature Figure With Slender Hips.

5437. This is a good model for linen, cotton or silk broad cloth or gingham. The dress closes in front under the facing. The sleeve may be finished in comfortable "short length" or in wrist length, as shown in the small view.

The pattern is cut in 9 sizes: 36, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, 52 and 54 inches bust measure. If made as illustrated in the large view, a 42 inch size, will require 4⅝ yards of 36 inch plain material and ⅜ yard of contrasting material for facings on collar, revers, cuffs and pocket. If the dress is made with long sleeves it will require 4¼ yards of the plain material. The width of the skirt at the foot with plaits extended is 2¼ yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any person on receipt of 15c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

A cooling drink for the glorious Fourth

WHATEVER you do on this holiday—wherever you go—remember "Canada Dry." It is the coolest, most refreshing drink of all in summer-time.

You will like its delicate, intriguing flavor. The gleam and sparkle of it. The joyous exhilaration in its delicate, enticing bouquet.

But there is a deeper and even more substantial reason than this for the popularity of "Canada Dry"—something that makes men and women prefer it above all other ginger ales.

Do you know what it is? It is the healthful zest of "Canada Dry." The keen, brisk refreshment that comes from pure ingredients. The way it lifts you up and invigorates. The very spirit of the northern pines that waits for you in every glass.

No other ginger ale will bring you this same refreshment because there is no other ginger ale like "Canada Dry." It is a real ginger ale, made from real Jamaica ginger—the purest, finest, best ginger ale that it is possible to make—the choice of great hospitals in this country and in Canada—a safe drink even for children. Keep it in mind for your Fourth of July holiday.

harp Cotton Export Slump

Babson Park, Mass. (Special), July —Although the United States is w declared to have displaced Great itain as the leading exporter of tiles to Canada, and in spite of the t that the cotton mill people of w England and the South are now rking in better harmony than ever fore—the fact remains that value our cotton exports has slumped arply even during the past few onths. This important feature of siness at the present time can not lp but oe of concern to all of those ople who are interested either in r cotton growing itself or in our tton mills and adjoining lines of th trade and industry. Cotton is ll very much of a "King" in this untry yet.

As compared with last December, find that the value of our cotton ports has slumped from 110 million llars down to 52 million dollars. is severe drop has been steady ght through the intervening onths, but the months of March and ril saw far less of a difference, uch may suggest that a good rise is ming now before long. It would be excellent thing for general busi- ss.

FALCONRY

An Algerian Falconer.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

IT WILL surprise many to learn that the art of falconry, or hawking, goes back to the remote and unwritten past. We have many proofs of this in the frescoes and sculptures of the early Egyptians and Persians. And in all the time that has passed since that early day there has never been a total lapse of the art; falconry has in every age been carried on in some part of the world. Reference material is found in books not only of England, Holland, France, Italy, and Spain, but of China, Japan, and Russia, while the sport has been followed from immemorial time in India and northern Africa.

The ancient Greeks apparently knew nothing of falconry, but the Lombards, settling in north Italy about 800, knew of the art, and by 875 it had become a generally known practice throughout western Europe and Saxon England. From that time it thrived, filling an important place in the life of the times.

A vast impetus was given to falconry by the returning crusaders, who had become familiar with the methods of the Orient and had brought with them both falcons and trainers. War lords never left their courts without their falconers and a cadge of hawks, to be flown at anything that might be deemed worthy.

The gun, of course, delivered a serious blow to the art, as it provided a quick, sure, and inexpensive way of getting meat. Still, the real devotees were never greatly affected by this device, and through the centuries, up to the rebellion in England, and later through the French Revolution on the continent, falconry survived the difficulties imposed by the introduction of firearms, the breaking up of the country into small holdings, the reclaiming of large areas of wild land, and other inevitable changes incident to a multiplying and advancing population.

As a general practice, however, falconry in Europe ceased after the great social upheavals mentioned. Its maintenance as a sport since then is attributable in large measure to half a dozen hawking clubs, among which are the Falconers' club, the High Ash club, and the Loo club in Holland. There were probably thirty or forty private establishments in England in 1914, but no doubt the World war has made a heavy toll on both the personnel and the support of the sport.

Trying It in America.

Within the last twenty years there had been a great renascence of amateur falconry among the English, and some rather successful attempts have been made in America, particularly in the Genesee valley, New York.

The great expense of maintaining the birds, due to the scarcity of experienced trainers and catchers, and the difficulties of forwarding so rangy a sport in the settled conditions of most of our eastern country have made it impossible, however, to achieve any real success in America and the growing sentiment against killing any but a few species of game birds will probably act as a further deterrent. Still, there are several common birds which are recognized as game that would make admirable quarry for the peregrine, notably the quail of our Atlantic states and the sharp-tailed grouse of the northern prairies. The native wild goshawk is already the chief problem of all the grouse of our northern wooded section.

While it is true that in training hawks to hunt, as in all other animal training, advantage is taken of the natural proclivities of the creature in hand, nevertheless, it seems at first glance that these vigorous and intrepid birds are taught to go almost directly against their instincts. First of all, being among the wildest and shyest of creatures, they must be taught that man, instead of being their worst enemy, is really their best friend. Then the rest becomes comparatively easy, if no mistakes are made. But any one of hundreds of possible errors may undo weeks of patient and successful labor.

Then, too, since different kinds of game must be hunted at different times of the year and in different kinds of cover, either the same hawk must be trained first for one type of work and later for something entirely different, or different kinds of hawks must be used.

Of the hundreds of kinds of hawks, only certain ones possess the combination of qualities necessary for this beautiful and romantic sport. A hawk must be at once kind and fierce; it must be able to stand the changes of climate of its owner's country; it must be strong enough and swift enough to overtake and strike down its quarry, and intelligent enough to be able to unlearn much of its native knowledge. These qualities are possessed by only about a dozen species, belonging to two groups or genera—the true falcons, of the genus Falco, or long-winged hawks, and the short-winged group of forest hawks known as "Accipiters." Only two of the latter are used, the goshawk and the European sparrow hawk. The bird known in America as sparrow hawk is a small falcon which feeds principally on insects and is useless for hunting.

Peregrine a Cosmopolite.

The peregrine is the only falcon proper found all over the world. There is no other bird with such a cosmopolitan range. It is found on both sides of the equator, throughout the entire world, nearly to the Arctic and Antarctic circles. It is natural, then, that this should be the falcon of falcons and known to all ages of man as a tractable and capable help in his search for food; for falconry was at first a very practical and even sordid pursuit, only later—much later—becoming the sport of the privileged classes.

A peculiar set of traditions and an equally picturesque language have become inseparably attached to the art of falconry; and it is only fair to the Scotch, who, in their conservatism, have been responsible for the colorful language of golf, to give them credit for preserving the romantic terminology of falconry. It was in Scotland that the art was perpetuated after it had languished over most of Europe.

Ancient history is lacking with the influence of the noble sport of hawking, the history of medieval Europe is richly colored with it. Sixteenth and Seventeenth century literature fairly abounds in passages concerning it, and the language of the day was so tinctured with the jargon of the hawkers that it is fair to conclude that, before men had knowledge of gunpowder and the fowling piece, hawking was such a general practice as to be the principal means of obtaining wild game.

Falcons are brought into subjection to man's will either by being taken from the nest just before they are able to fly or by being caught wild after they are fully grown and self-supporting. Those taken from the nest (eyess hawks) are the ones usually trained over most of Europe. Ordinarily they are much gentler and more easily trained, but lack the dash and style of the wild-caught birds known as "haggards." In India and Africa, however, the eyess is virtually unknown, as the hawks are always trapped adult.

The Valkenswaarde Market.

In the heyday of the sport, emissaries from the courts of each little duchy and principality gathered at Valkenswaarde after the trapping and bought for their masters the product of the season's catch.

What a picturesque and lively scene these medieval auctions must have been, with knight bidding against knight for the beautiful birds that had been won out of the air and brought into the thralldom of man!

The old cult of falcon catching and training has never completely languished at Valkenswaarde, and the family of Mollens has for many generations led in the industry. Indeed, wherever falconry is practiced the Mollens are known as the most skillful and expert trappers and trainers, and many of the most famous falcons in the history of the sport have come from their able hands.

The peregrine, falcon of falcons, is not as large or as strong as either the gyr or the sacre, but combines, with a hardihood unknown to the "exotics," all the qualities that go to make a good hawk—gentleness, teachability, courage, dash, willingness to "wait on" at a great height, and, most important of all, availability; for, as has been said, the peregrine has a world-wide range, and is therefore obtainable in almost any country where men want to use it.

In a wild state, were it a common bird anywhere, it would be a very undesirable neighbor, for it preys almost exclusively on birds, and is capable of taking such swift and resourceful game as plover, snipe, and wild fowl. Its common name in America, the duck hawk, is well given, the reference being to wild ducks and not the tame bird.

Colonials Enjoy Swatfest—Beat Middies, 13-2

Carl Deetjen on Mound for Middletown Grays Allows 19 Hits, Including Three Homers—Smith Wins Another.

A world rover witnessing the Middletown-Colonial match would have thought he was anywhere but the peaceful United States Wednesday evening the way that visiting twirler was bruised and battered by a barbarious group of Colonial warriors. The Phelpsmen did everything but tar and feather Brown-Hunter's twirler as they made the Middies appear rather helpless in taking their scalp by a 13 to 2 tally.

Nineteen times the Colonials jabbed at Carl Deetjen, which was the title of Hunter's choice for the mound. And never an inning did the locals go without a jab at the Middie. Then to top it off three Colonials, Kelly, Smith and McCue crashed into Carl hard enough to send the ball out of the lot. All in all the Kingston players' batting averages have gone skyward since that match.

The only pleasant time the Middies had was before the game for then the Colonials hadn't started scalping yet. It was before the game that Matty Deegan, who now wears the Middletown uniform was presented with a handbag from a delegation of the Joyce-Schirick Post of Veterans of Foreign Wars. Matty is one of the big chiefs of this organization and the veterans wanted their brother to know how much they thought of him as a ball player. Just as it usually happens after such ceremonies, Matty never once during the evening displayed his talents in true manner. Bill Schwab and Jack Robins were also with the Middies and this pair got a big hand all night long whether they did anything or not.

Two Runs in First.

The Middies appeared as if they were going to be a tough lot to trim the first inning but then after this frame had gone into history the fans found out that this was all there was to the Grays. In the first Art Smith allowed two of his four hits and the down-river crew scooped in two runs. Mays hit a single to start. After Lyons got on Blum doubled and Mays and Lyons crossed the plate.

Art Smith made the Middies walk the straight and narrow path for the balance of the affair, allowing only two more hits. The collegian was charitable in the third and gave a hit but the visitors didn't know what to do with it so it wasn't any good. Art gave out another single in the eighth and the locals completed a neat double play and that hit was also useless.

Three Home Runs.

The Colonials behaved like a hailstorm the first two frames. They started a deluge of hits and runs in the first and second frames. In the opening frame the Kingstonians received a walk, took advantage of a couple of valuable boots, hit four times in a row and they had four runs. In the second, five Colonials singled and Melvin clouted a triple and the Kingston side of the scoreboard was increased five runs for a total of nine.

In the fifth Tex Kelly shot a homer out of the lot and then in the eighth Art Smith knocked one more out and over. After Tex had tripled in the seventh, Bernie McCue sent one more circuit on its way, making the local's total of runs, thirteen.

The popularity of Deegan, Robins and Schwab has not decreased a bit even if they don't wear the Colonial togs.

Art Smith issued three passes to first during the evening slaughter and Bill Schwab was the recipient every time.

Some of the batting averages grew especially fast. Peters, 4 out of 4; O'Brien, 3 out of 5; McCue, 3 out of 5 including a homer; Kelly, 3 out of 5 with a triple and a homer. Then Smith with a circuit and Melvin a single and a triple and Karis with a pair of singles.

Melvin's triple in the second was a big slice. It went way out in the southeast corner in the tall grass and the Kingston catcher nearly came in on it.

Won 9; lost 3; .740 pct.

"BULLET JOE" BUSH WITH PITTSBURGH PIRATES

Pittsburgh, July 1.—"Bullet Joe" Bush, veteran major league pitcher, today was a member of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and will be eligible to pitch his first game for his new team mates on Saturday.

Bush was eligible to negotiate his own transfer to the Pirates under a major league ruling which makes a player a free agent after ten years' service.

Bush, who is thirty-four years old, made his debut in the big leagues late in the season of 1912. His addition to the pitching staff of the Pirates comes as the world's champions continue a steady slump, with six straight defeats chalked up against them.

TORREZ.

Torrez, former star of the Cubans, who will appear with the famous Boston Black Sox against the Colonials next Sunday and Monday, is one of the most spectacular ball players in the country. He has played in the Cuban league for over seven winters and has always commandered a batting average better than .350. His playing at the initial sack is very sensational. He nabs the ball with his gloved hand to perfection and the art with which he touches first base is done in masterly fashion. Many of the fans throughout the country take occasion to "razz" the big fellow, but he knows the game and while his playing seems of the "grandstand variety" it is his style, and has won him fame throughout the South, as well as in every town he is appearing in this season.

Gelfand Rajon Barrett.

Bayonne, N. J., July 1.—Harry Gelfand, of Brooklyn, assumed a place among the welterweight championship contenders last night by scoring a knockout in the seventh round over Bobby Barrett, of Philadelphia. A right to the jaw finished Barrett. He was knocked down three times in the fourth round, but the bell saved him.

Racing Program Here July 5

A racing program far exceeding the expectations of the committee in charge will be put on at the track of the Ulster County Riding and Driving Club, North Manor avenue, Monday afternoon, July 5, beginning at 2 o'clock.

Several fast horses have been entered in the three classes which will be run off in connection with the horse show and racing program. The entries have come in during the past few days in increasing numbers and at present there have been entered 24 horses in the three classes. This number is far in excess of the number received for the Memorial Day races which were called off on account of bad weather at that time. Several of the horses entered for July 5 have records which assure some good trotting.

The program which will start promptly at 2 o'clock will include three classes of races and in addition the horse show program of fancy riding, contests and stunt riding.

The Citizens' Band will furnish a musical program during the afternoon.

Rickard to Name Site for Bout

Between Dempsey and Tunney Not Later Than Next Week—Dempsey Will Train at Colorado Springs.

(By Davis J. Walsh.)

New York, July 1.—There was a strong bull movement—possibly with emphasis on the adjective—in the heavyweight market, Tex Rickard causing the upward trend by breaking his silence with a significant statement. This was to the general effect that he would name the site of the Dempsey-Tunney match for the world's heavyweight championship not later than next week.

In brief, Rickard has closed his deal, either with Chicago or Jersey City, and is all ready to go.

His statement followed an exchange of telegrams with the principals, Dempsey wiring Rickard from Las Vegas that he would arrive in Colorado Springs today prepared to get down to active training. The champion asked for five or six heavyweight sparring partners and a line of reformed piano movers began forming on the left at an early hour this morning, while Rickard was thumbing over the freight rates to points west.

His next move was to wire Tunney to cease uplifting the drama in Hollywood and begin lifting up the chest weights. Tunney was ordered to report here before July 15 to begin conditioning for the big shot. Rickard declined to say, but it is understood that Tunney will train at Saratoga.

If that is the case, the Chicago site probably is out like a door mat, for if they fight in Chicago, they will train hard by so that the boys may draw their own conclusions and shower down adequately while doing so.

As a matter of fact, the Yankee Stadium, New York city, persists in some quarters as the ultimate spot for the match, regardless of the decree of the New York State Athletic Commission, banishing Dempsey into the silence until such time as he admits that Harry Wills is a heavyweight pugilist. It is difficult to see how the Commission can run out on its own ultimatum but some of the local intelligentsia seem to feel that it can and will.

The New York site, for obvious reasons, is the most attractive one to Rickard. He might, for example, come back from Jersey City with almost as much money as he took over. The fight would draw plenty there but Rickard's ultimate profit might be negligible.

As for Chicago, his objection there is that he would have to split his profits with the nominal promoter of the fight. According to the Illinois Law, only resident promoters are permitted to operate in that state, so Rickard would have to work through some one else. He might even have to sell his contract with the fighters, taking what is known as a quick profit, which often enough is just another name for a small one.

Two factors will operate against this plan. Rickard doesn't like them small and he does like the limelight. His native vanity is such that he would retire from the public management of a heavyweight champion bout only if he saw no other course open to him. He would rather take a loss than see some other man handle such a match at a profit.

SAYS SAMMY MANDELL IS A FALSE-FAVORITE

Chicago, July 1.—Sammy Mandell of Rockford who fights Champion Rocky Kansas here Saturday for the world's lightweight boxing title, is a "false-favorite," to win at odds of 2 to 1, in the opinion of Charley White who once lost to Kansas.

"The back hand punch—the same that put Benny Leonard down for a count and pounded out a victory for myself—will win for Kansas in his fight with Mandell," White said today.

White reminded his listeners that he has no love for the champion. He recalled the time they met and Kansas, not satisfied with beating him, claimed a $2,500 forfeit because Charley was three-quarters of a pound overweight.

In spite of his personal feelings toward Rocky, however, the Chicago lightweight believes the champion has an even or better chance of retaining his title against Mandell.

THIRD ROUND IN MASS. GOLF TOURNEY

Worcester, Mass., July 1.—Fred Wright, the amateur from Belmont, Mike Brady, of New York and Tom Lally, of San Antonio, the defending champion, led the field as the final three-some was sent away today in the third round of the Massachusetts Open Golf Championship.

The Belmont amateur had a five-stroke lead on Brady and Lally at the end of the first 36 holes.

Wright was playing real championship golf. However, Brady and Lally were very much in the running.

THE BUCCANEER, OWNED BY CUNEO, WINS TROT

"The Buccaneer," owned by John J. Cuneo of this city, with Ackerman driving, won the two-year-old trot at the Ray State Circuit races at Avon, Conn., Wednesday. There were four starting heats. "The Buccaneer" winning the first and fourth heats in 2:27¼ and 2:25¾.

The second heat was taken by "A Leading Man," in 2:21¾, while "Liz Van," got the third in 2:26¼. The purse was for $2,000. There were five other starters.

Gas Men Defeat Schilling Club

The Kingston Gas & Electric took another fall out of Schillings Wednesday evening at the Athletic Field, by a score of 7-4. The Gasmen are now but a few points behind the Industrial League leaders.

Crispell pitching for the Gasmen, allowed the Da-bedmen six hits and walked one. His teammates helped him get out of a few holes in the pinches. They also helped him get in some.

Williams was not so good for the Da-bedmen. He passed four and hit one. He was touched for seven hits by the Gasmen. His support could have been better, his teammates being erratic in the pinches.

Weeks started Schillings off in the first inning by hitting one to left field for two bases, after Jones had been thrown out at first base. Weeks brought in the first run of the game when Noonan singled to right.

The Gasmen came back strong in their half and scored two. Sickler tripled to right field in this inning and scored on Burr's sacrifice fly. McLean walked, stole second, and scored on Noonan's error.

After Schillings were retired in order in their half of the second, the Gasmen scored three more, on two free passes and hits by Kirchner, Crispell and Burr. Burr's hit scored two.

Schillings scored two more in the sixth, but they were only enough to make the game close. K. G. & E. also scored two in the sixth.

SIDE-LINERS.

Poor base running helped Schillings lose another game.

There is more competition in the Industrial Baseball League than there is in Wall Street.

It was another fast game. The sun held them up for a few minutes, the first in some time.

The outfielders on both teams were kept busy all night. McLean made a few good running catches.

The City and U. & D. tonight.

ANOTHER SEASON FOR JOSEPH BUSH

Pitcher Should Be Good for Several Years.

It is just another season for Leslie Joseph Bush, that's all.

That he should be with his sixth ball club since he started out on his career also fits into the program. "Bullet Joe" has been traveling around quite a bit since he started on his career of mowing down the batters in 1912 when he won 29 games and lost 12 for Missoula in the Union association, winning the pennant for his club.

Joe's pitching made a big noise and Connie Mack of the Athletics soared him that fall. He reciprocated by winning 13 and losing 7 games for Mack the following year, which, with the exception of 1922, was his best season in the major leagues.

Joe fits in nicely in the scheme of things in Washington, considering that he was born November 27, 1892. That makes him thirty-four and age seems to be no handicap to Griffith's hurlers, so he should be good for several seasons, provided he has not thrown his arm away.

St. Louis had him last, but he didn't do very well with the Browns last season, splitting even on games won and lost at 14. He and Johnny Tobin went to Washington in exchange for Jezebel Tecumseh Zachary and Noble Ballou. There may be some question as to who got the better of the deal. Zachary is younger and Ballou is rated as a comer, but anyhow Joe is back with the champions, to which society he has been no stranger in years past.

Joe once had speed, oodles of it, but he spent it freely with the Athletics, and for a time it was feared that he had used most of it up, but he still has plenty left.

Bush was with the Athletics six years, and long enough to hang up a no-hit, no-run game against Cleveland. This happened August 26, 1916, but he had his ins and outs. The game following his no-hit performance the Chicago White Sox all but murdered him in jig time, which might indicate that he is an in and outer. There is something to that.

Athletics Are Favored to Win 1926 Pennant

To date, no one has ventured to select Detroit for the 1926 pennant, writes H. G. Salsinger in the Detroit News. Few predict that the Tigers will finish in the first division. Last year many named them as winners of the pennant.

Most of the selections now favor Philadelphia to land on top. The addition of Willie (Kid) Gleason as assistant to Cornelius McGillicuddy, leads a majority to believe that the Athletics will have enough punch to carry them to the front. Punch is something that Mr. McGillicuddy's team lacked last season.

A tabulation of selections places the American league teams as follows:

1—Philadelphia, 2—Chicago, 3—Washington, 4—St. Louis, 5—New York, 6—Detroit, 7—Cleveland, 8—Boston.

All seem agreed upon one thing—Boston will finish last this season, just as the Red Sox finished last in 1925.

Ice Keeps Him Fit

Cobb's Record Praised by Pilot Tris Speaker

"I think it was a mighty fine thing to honor Cobb, Eddie Collins and myself with 'most valuable player awards,' but in the naming of Cobb alone it showed that a man who has done about all there is to do so far as records are concerned was given recognition due him for some time," Tris Speaker, manager of the Cleveland Indians, said recently in discussing the recent announcement that placed the above three in baseball's hall of fame.

Speaker, Collins and Cobb, due to their positions as managers of teams, could not win the award, so it was proposed to place all three of them at once for their services in making the national game better.

Tagging Major League Base

The Pirates walked the plank for the sixth time in a row, losing to the Cardinals 6 to 2. Haines turned in another good game while homers by Blades and Bell spoiled the afternoon for Lee Meadows.

Cincinnati's winning streak curled up and died when the Reds lost the second game of a doubleheader to the Cubs, 9 to 4, after winning the opener 3 to 2. Luque served them red-hot in the first game but Mays and Lucas wilted in the nightcap.

The Giants tried to hand another game to the Braves but the beaneaters wouldn't hear of it, so McGraw's pets walked away with the game in the fifteenth inning, 7 to 6. Lindstrom starred with a homer and three other hits.

Brooklyn downed Philadelphia in an 11 to 9 slugging match, Ehrhardt receiving credit for his first victory in 25 starts. Harper's two homers kept the Phils in the running.

The Athletics nosed out the Yankees in the ninth, 5 to 4, when Pooh who had already hit a homer doubled with the bases full.

Two rookies starred in Washington's 8 to 5 victory over the Red Sox. Morrell yielded only five hits and Dan Taylor, formerly of Buffalo got three hits, including a homer.

Four double-plays helped Detroit beat the Browns, 4 to 1. A shower of raspberries descended on the field when McManus caught Heilmann with the hidden ball trick while Ty Cobb was coaching at third.

The Indians scalped Ted Lyons of the White Sox, their pet jinx, and won in a romp, 11 to 3. Cleveland is now only a game and a half away from second place.

Favors Study of Latin

To place the study of Latin on a parity with the study of modern languages, the University of North Carolina has reduced the amount of Latin required for admission to the College of Liberal Arts. A sliding scale has been adopted, and students will be admitted on a minimum of two units of work. It is not the intention to eliminate the importance of the study of Latin, but to make it possible for students having less than four years of high-school Latin to continue at the university their study of the language.

Hats That Harmonize

Hats no longer are mere accessories to a costume. They are a definite part of the costume itself. Therefore the leading dressmakers and designers are working in collaboration with the leading milliners or are establishing hat ateliers of their own. Thus a woman will have little difficulty in selecting a hat which will match or harmonize with any costume she may select.

Black Silk Flat Crepe Overskirt of White

An afternoon frock of black silk flat crepe with revers collar and panels on the skirt of white. The belt is wide and embroidered in white and color combinations.

Pretty Chiffon Capes for Summer Evenings

Some of the pretty little chiffon capes to be worn for summer evenings and matching the frock or contrasting with it are made of pink or green and worn with the gown in one of these colors trimmed with the other.

A pretty way to make one of these capes is to smock the fullness into the neck and scallop and bind the lower edge. The cape may be lined or unlined. But when it is lined the opportunity is offered to combine these pale shades. The smocking can be done in a different color from the crepe material. A band of fur around the neck makes it warm enough for a spring day. If one chooses, a long, straight scarf may finish the neck. It should be doubled and it can tie once or twice around the neck, ending in a bow with short or long ends.

These capes may be any length one prefers. If they are intended to be used just as an effective collar they may be quite short. But many women will like them for a summer wrap and an economical idea would be to have an afternoon frock of one shade and an evening gown of the other so that the cape might be worn with either.

Shades in Hosiery to Match Spring Frocks

With the coming of spring and the vogue of matching hose with the frock there comes the question of color. The advent of navy blue, observes a fashion authority, has brought in a great deal of gray hosiery. The rose beige remains with us, so does the popular gunmetal shade, and in fashionable gatherings in Paris and New York the reliable black chiffon hose is appearing frequently. The effort of stylists to bring it back, has been going on for the past season.

The fastidious woman may as well take a hint from the stage. Have you noticed how many of the actresses wear service weight silk hose instead of chiffon? The reason is, of course, an obvious one. In matching the color to the costume the heavier-weight hose holds a more uniform color than any other. This hint may well be used by the woman who would match perfectly her hose and frock.

The "standard beige," a tone from which the rosy fringe is banished, and gray-green gunmetal, are very popular.

Hosiery Darker

There is a tendency to introduce darker hosiery, and gun metal and taupe shades are exceedingly smart, particularly with the dark outfit.

Jumper Suit Has Prominent Place

Popular Outfit Adaptable to All Ages—Worn With or Without Coat.

Sports dress is the first consideration for the spring wardrobe, and the models of this type have never been more attractive. The jumper suit carries on, more popular, if possible, than it was last season. This jolly, chic, wholly comfortable outfit has been found to be adaptable to a young girl, a subdeb or the mother of both. The model has been so universally accepted that this season's version is in a way standardized.

These jumper frocks of wool are intended, of course, for the strenuous sports or general utility of the short spring season, when they will receive hard wear, and for occasional use through the later months at seashore or mountain resort. They may be worn with or without a topcoat, most often with just a fur piece or with one of the scarfs of wool, taffeta or crepe in gay colors, so fashionable this season. Having a wider use, the crepes are more in demand than any other single fabric. They are now to be had in many different weaves and weights.

Some exceedingly swagger jumpers from Paris are coat like in character and others are patterned after the classic norfolk jacket, with one of the many new belts of kid, patent leather or suede. A few are shown with fullness brought out through a blue or side clusters of plaits below the belt. In an ultra-smart suit done by Lanvin the short skirt of crepe de chine is plaited so closely as to produce a punctuated ripple at the bottom. One now sees jumper frocks distinguished from jumper suits because they are made of lighter materials—lame, lace, embroidery and the most fragile stuffs.

Two-Piece Tailored Dress of Flat Crepe; Blouse of French Blue.

With this simple, matter-of-fact conception as a foundation a surprising number of different styles may be established. The boyish jumper is an intriguing thing. It is smart, easy and gives always a well groomed appearance, especially to the girl of slim athletic figure. A special jumper suit of American authorship built of plain and novelty wool goods combined has a blouse that extends well below the hips, with a narrow belt six inches above. A deep shirt bosom buttons down the front of the blouse with a cluster of narrow shoulder tucks. The skirt is plain with the requisite plaits arranged at one side. This shirt bosom model is seen in the severely tailored suits made of two materials.

Another sports model is composed of jersey cloth in a lovely new shade of coral. The skirt of this is laid in its entire circumference in inverted box plaits, very flat and narrow in effect.

The blouse of this slip-on type is sleeveless, with wide armholes, and the neck is cut with a deep V in front. This is finished all around with a stiff band of the goods and is worn over a shirt of white crepe de chine, buttoned high with a soft turnover collar and long sleeves that are finished with a narrow wristband.

Women and Tips

A man will leave a bigger tip when he is alone, as a general rule, than he will if his wife's with him. I've seen many a wife grab her husband's hand and shake her head "No!" when he started to leave a half-dollar by his plate. And I've seen the rest of the pantomime when the man finally picked up the half-dollar and left a nickel and a dime instead.—David Chalmers, reporting an interview with Paul Reiss, a railway chef, in the American Magazine.

Think It Over!

Townley's Boom Proves a Dud

Fargo, N. D., July 1.—The boom for Gov. A. C. Townley, original organizer and former head of the Non-Partisan League in North Dakota, proved to be a dud in the North Dakota primaries when returns from 102 available counties today gave the former non-partisan head only one vote.

The Townley Campaign was started a few day ago when his friends sent out stickers bearing Townley's name. Townley has not been in this state for more than one year.

Humidity Retards Work

Recent experiments show that when the thermometer registers 100 degrees Fahrenheit, four times more work can be done if the relative humidity is 30 per cent than if the relative humidity is 10 per cent.

HEROIC DEEDS OF WOMEN IN BATTLE

Glorious Achievements Recorded in History.

The recent dispatch that women of the Druse tribe, at war with the French in Syria, had taken part in an attack at Sueda, and, braving bullets and shells, captured two armored trains, leads George R. Witte, writing in the New York Evening World, to remark that they were simply showing the fighting instinct which has been evinced by females in all ages of the world.

In the World war the number of women who fought on both sides ran into the thousands, and the Russian women's "Battalion of Death" stands out as one of the most notable instances of patriotism in the struggle. It is only patriotism that prompts women to engage in battle, asserts the writer. For their own they will fight with the ferocity of tigers.

History is filled with the achievements of women in battle. In our own Civil war many women fought at the sides of their husbands and sons. One of the most famous of these women was Kady Brownell, who enlisted with her husband in the Rhode Island regiment of Zouaves and was wounded at the battle of Bull Run. She died in 1915, the only woman member of the G. A. R. The history of Molly Pitcher, heroine of the American Revolution, is well known.

The oldest stories of women warriors and those that gave militant women their cognomen, were the Greek tales about the Amazons who terrorized Asia Minor and Thessaly and who were often depicted in Greek art.

The names of many warrior queens are familiar to every student of history. There was Semiramis, the queen of Sheba, and Zenobel; Theodosia, Boadicea and Ethelfreda. And in the Middle ages we read of Queen Eleanor of France and Margaret of Navarre, while Catherine the Great led her armies in several battles. The name of Joanne d'Arc will live forever because of her achievements.

The history of India is full of tales of women battalions fighting in the holy wars against the invaders. Not quite one hundred years ago Ranjet Singh of Lahore led a regiment of the most beautiful girls and women of the Vale of Cashmere to their death in battle against the English. In the Crimean war, 70 years ago, the "super-women" of Georgia, led by the "Black Virgin," a Kurd, marched to the Danube to do battle with the Russians.

Combat Disease in Africa

The newest devices for combating disease will soon be available in the heart of the so-called Dark continent. According to a report to the American Medical association, the Belgians are equipping a hospital ship to be put in service on the Congo river that will have ice machines, disinfection equipment, operating rooms, laboratories and all the appurtenances of a thoroughly up-to-date hospital. It will have wireless outfits with which to keep in constant touch with hospitals, and numerous stations along the river and in the interior. It is hoped that in this way many sources of infection can be reached and checked before the spread can acquire dangerous proportions.

Promote World Friendship

Correspondence between school children of America and those of other countries is promoted by several agencies, the most active of them being, perhaps, the junior Red Cross. Organizations for like purposes have been formed in other countries, and some of them have established relations on their own account with teachers in the United States. One of these is the International Fraternity Association of Asaka, Japan. K. Ikehara is the executive secretary. The American correspondent of this organization is Miss Minot B. Moore, 16 Fulton street, Newark, N. J. The purpose of the organization is "to advance the cause of world friendship by means of international exchange of letters, news, and tokens particular to their respective countries, especially among the younger generations of nations."

Skillful Builder of Forts

John Ziska, a famous leader of the Hussite party in Bohemia, gained the title, "father of the modern art of fortification." In 1420 he took up a strong position near Prague on an eminence since known as Ziskaberg, and held it with a few thousand men against an army of 30,000.

Words Little Used

The word moot means to argue, to debate, to discuss, and moot court is the place where the debate or argument is carried on. This institution is common in law schools where students argue fictitious cases involving principles of law. Mooter is one who debates.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 1.—While the forward swing in prices on the Stock Exchange today was not as vigorous as in the three preceding sessions, new leaders were developed to take the place of the spectacular industrial and motor shares which have been carrying the burden of the advance for the last two or three weeks. These were found principally in the railroad and the public utility group, the latter including the stocks of the eastern gas lighting concerns.

Family Quarrel Ends in 3 Deaths

Muskegon Heights, Mich., July 1—Funeral services were being arranged today for Lawrence Hilt, 42, his wife, Rose, 40, and her mother, Mrs. Ella Hale, 63, victims in a triple shooting by Hilt in his home here.

Hilt objected to his mother-in-law's presence in the home, and had pleaded with his wife repeatedly, relatives said, to send her mother away. Mrs. Hilt refused, and started divorce proceedings.

Women in Servitude

The position of women in Korea comes closer to servitude than in any other oriental country. They are taught that the greatest feminine virtues are silence, humility and timidity.

Land of Cinnamon

The land of cinnamon was the name given by the Spanish conquerors of Peru to a region east of the Andes in the forests of the plains of the Napo, where they found the aromatic bark.

THE SUNFLOWER FAMILY

MOTHER SUNFLOWER told the Sunflower children she wanted to tell them something of Sunflower history.

The Sunflower children looked so bright that Mother Sunflower knew it would not be hard to teach them. And then, too, the children would not object because there would be no dates to remember and they would not have to answer questions at the end of the lesson.

"In the first place," said Mother Sunflower, "we are all made up of many little flowers."

The Sunflower children all nodded their heads as though to say: "Yes, Mother dear."

"The rose is a flower all by itself. It is made up of many little roses.

"We're One of the Largest Families."

But each one of our heads is made up of many little flowers clustered together to make one big flower or head.

"You will notice that if you look at yourselves carefully and with an eye to family history and family ways."

Mr. Wind came along then and blew just so the Sunflower children could take little looks at their own heads and each saw that what Mother Sunflower had said was quite, quite true.

"We're one of the largest families in the world, among the flowers," Mother Sunflower continued.

"In fact I think we are members of the largest group of flowers without any exception and that is a splendid honor to belong to such a big family.

"Members of our family are in all parts. Insects admire our great beauty and our size and they come to visit us.

"Oh, yes, we have visitors. Sometimes we're very busy with callers. In fact, we're almost as busy with callers as the lady who sits on yonder back porch."

Mother Sunflower waved toward the direction of a back porch upon which sat a beautiful lady dressed in white. She was very dainty and very graceful and very lovely to look at.

"Yes," said Mother Sunflower, "we have almost as many callers as has that lady. And you know how her porch is filled, day after day with callers. Of course her callers are people and not insects!"

"We know that," said the Sunflower callers.

"Although I love a very bright golden color above all colors," Mother Sunflower continued, "still I do love to see the lady wear white.

"White is so becoming to her and she always looks so summery. That is a word which I've heard, and so I suppose I may use it. It means that when people look summery they look like the summer time, lovely and at their best.

"Well, she has callers all the time. Very early in the morning I see her sitting with a book before her, but it is no time at all before the callers begin to come.

"She is so popular. And yet she has only one head!

"That shows how wonderful she must be. We are loved because there are so many little flowers or so many little heads which make up each of our single heads. And our many little heads have flower sweetness in them.

"But she is just as popular with one head! It is remarkable and yet it is perfectly true. People love to talk to her and hear what she has to say, for what she has to say is very wise and very witty. And she is kindly with all her wisdom, never saying things to hurt.

"I know that, for I can tell by the happy expressions on the faces of the callers when they leave. And she gives her callers sweets to eat, too, very often—just as we do with our callers.

"But I must tell you of some of our rich and society cousins. They are the Chrysanthemums, Dahlias, Asters, and many others.

"Oh, never forget, little Sunflower children, that we belong to a great, enormous flower family, and what could be a greater honor for flowers? Nothing could be a greater honor. That is the answer to that question!"

AN ABBREVIATED STORY

THE LAST OF THE RACE

THE time was 1943, and the place was the Zoological Gardens.

Feeding time was near, and hungry sounds filled the air—the bawling of pippylions, the shrill piping of semicolons, the rectangular shouts of Mexican gaiters.

The visitors stopped suddenly. In a carefully guarded enclosure two aged and strange-looking animals plodded silently to and fro, swishing long weird-looking tails.

"Well, of all things! What on earth can they be?" exclaimed one.

"They look absolutely impossible," cried two.

"Let's ask a keeper," said three.

"Why," said the keeper, "them's very rare and valu'ble animals, them is. Them's the only living specimens of malt-fed hosses. They're thirty year old and they were captured in 1920 in the streets of Milwaukee. Malt-fed hosses, that's what them is!"

Marveling greatly, the visitors passed on to the cage of the shimmying gimmicks.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"CROSS"

THIS is a word which from early childhood we used to describe ill temper or harshness or a disagreeable mood. Yet there is no etymological derivation to be found to justify this significance.

Our practice of calling a sulking or an angry person "cross" goes back to the pictorial representation of a cross, its two lines crossing or in opposition to each other. It was this physical disagreement of the horizontal and the vertical line, no doubt, which inspired the old expression or colloquialism, "don't cross him."

"Crossing" some one meant an altercation. Hence the term "cross" to describe such a frame of mind.

The Hotel Stenographer

By Roe Fulkerson

"IT'S a nice day outside," remarked the Hotel Stenographer as she removed her coat, shook her umbrella and prepared to go to work.

"I don't think," agreed the House Detective.

"I know you don't, Kelly," answered the girl. "That's the reason you are a success as a house cop and with the ladies. All the old hens in this hotel cackle around you like you had your pockets full of corn. That's because you don't think, too. Kelly, no woman likes to have a man think in her presence. It is like closing a door in her face. As long as a man talks to a woman he does not have to think. In fact, he better not or she will interrupt him.

"When he stops to think he gets her all fussed up, because a woman always acts on impulse without thinking. While a man is paused to think, she is worried sick for fear he is going to put his brains to the problem before them in which case she always gets the worst of it.

"As long as a man is talking, she can keep up with him. But when he stops to think, he's got her buffaloed. That's why men get into so many messes with women. Women will not let them stop and think. Lots of men walk home from women's houses talking to themselves because they did not stop to think. Alimony, matrimony, hush-money and a lot of other male complications have their origin in women's ability to keep men talking and not thinking.

"But a man like you, Kelly, whose face states that thinking is not your habit, is a great hit with my sex. Most men of your type haven't anything to lose, it's true, but what little there is they are willing to lose it, and that's all any woman asks of any man.

"What are you doing? Trying to kid me?" asked the House Detective.

"No," said the girl sadly. "Just doing it and making you think I am not."

Varicose Veins Reduced or Money Back, Says Dedrick's

Simple Home Treatment That is Giving Amazing Results.

The world progresses. Today ailments that took weeks to cure can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start today to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is also a marvelous healing agent. One application for instance stops the itching of eczema, and a few applications cause the eruptions to dry up, scale off and completely disappear. It is equally as effective in barber's itch, salt rheum, redness and inflammatory skin trouble.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, or get rid of eczema, ulcers, or piles in a few days should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long tome. Any pharmacy can supply you. William F. Dedrik's sells lots of it.

WHEN I WAS TWENTY-ONE

BY JOSEPH KAYE

At Twenty-One Chick Evans, Famous Golf Champion, Wanted to Be a Bond Salesman.

"I WAS twenty-one on the 18th of July, 1911, and my birthday occurred on the ocean. I was returning from my first trip abroad, where I won the French-American golf championship on July 4. I had expected to return to Northwestern university in the fall, as I had two more years to go. All of my business friends advised against it, but my family wanted me to go back to school. My mother, particularly, was bitterly disappointed.

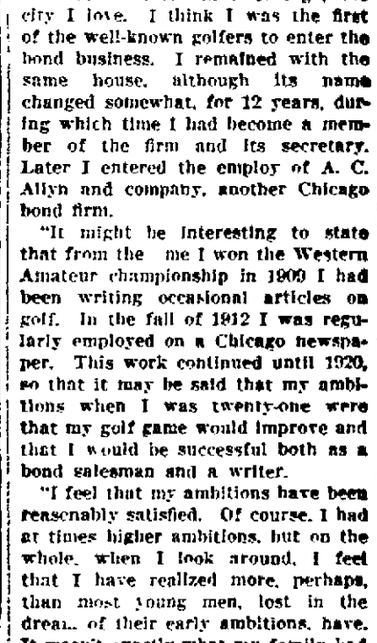

"I accepted the advice of my business friends, and after the two big championships I went to work for a local (Chicago) investment bond house. The father of my most intimate friend had an interest in it. I had a good offer to go to Boston, but did not want to leave Chicago, the city I love. I think I was the first of the well-known golfers to enter the bond business. I remained with the same house, although its name changed somewhat, for 12 years, during which time I had become a member of the firm and its secretary. Later I entered the employ of A. C. Allyn and company, another Chicago bond firm.

"It might be interesting to state that from the me I won the Western Amateur championship in 1909 I had been writing occasional articles on golf. In the fall of 1912 I was regularly employed on a Chicago newspaper. This work continued until 1920, so that it may be said that my ambitions when I was twenty-one were that my golf game would improve and that I would be successful both as a bond salesman and a writer.

"I feel that my ambitions have been reasonably satisfied. Of course, I had at times higher ambitions, but on the whole, when I look around, I feel that I have realized more, perhaps, than most young men, lost in the dream of their early ambitions, have. It wasn't exactly what my family had hoped. My mother wanted me to finish at the university and take a special course in diplomatic or consular service.—Chick Evans."

Any one who plays golf knows the fame of Mr. Evans; and most any one who does not play has heard and admired him just the same. So that there is no doubt at all that he has realized his early ambitions, taking into consideration that every young man's ambition, first and foremost, is to become famous.

110 Killed In Earthquakes

Cairo, July 1.—One hundred and ten persons were killed in the series of earthquakes which shook Egypt last week, a complete check-up today revealed.

Sixty-six persons were injured, most of them by falling walls. More than four thousand houses were completely destroyed by the tremors, and many damaged.

The shocks were felt in virtually all sections of the country.

ABERNATHY ENTERS CAR IN CONTEST AT SYRACUSE

William F. Abernathy of the Eagle Garage is in Syracuse today where he has entered a Franklin car in the "100 miles in low gear" contest which is being held today at the Franklin factory in connection with the silver jubilee week of the Franklin Motor Car company. The company is celebrating its twenty-fifth anniversary with various contests and tests among them being the 100 miles in low gear contest which takes place today. This contest is participated in by Franklin air cooled cars entered by the various dealers of the country. Mr. Abernathy, who was accompanied to Syracuse by several Kingstonians, has entered a Franklin series 11 air cooled sedan in the contest.

The entire 100 miles will be run without stopping the engine and the winner in the contest is expected to cover the distance in considerably less than 10 hours running time.

Not Traditional Belief

Traditional superstitions have some excuse, but to attribute bad luck to opening an umbrella in the house is going out of one's way looking for trouble. Umbrellas are not over a century old.

Ants That Bake Bread

Ants have been found in Dalmatia which actually make bread by chewing seeds into pulp, forming it in loaves, baking them in the sun and then storing them away for future use.

LOVE AND ROMANCE IN INVENTOR'S LIFE

How Alexander Graham Bell Helped the Deaf.

While to the average citizen the name of Alexander Graham Bell is associated only with the invention of the telephone, to humanitarians the world over he is equally well known as the man who first brought to the deaf in America the privilege of intercourse through speech and speech-reading, and it was of this latter achievement that the inventor was proudest. In fact, when Bell knew that his telephone invention was to bring him wealth, his first remark was, "Now we shall have money enough to teach speech to little deaf children."

In Washington there stands the Volta bureau which he established with prize money bestowed upon him by the French for his invention of the telephone. Although the bureau was founded primarily to aid deaf children, it has since branched out into the larger field of work for those who have had normal hearing but have lost all or part of it. True to the idea of its founder, it is an institution of service.

It was no accident or purposeless plan of a careless fate which bestowed on Alexander Graham Bell the mind to comprehend, the heart to understand great needs and their remedies. The life story of the man who gave to the whole world the means of quick and sure communication, and to the small world of the deaf, a new hope, is the story of cause and effect, glorified by love and romance, is the testimony of a writer in the Washington Star. His mother was "hard of hearing;" his wife, to whom he was devoted, had been left, when a child, without a trace of hearing. He taught her to talk.

In 1879 Bell secured a position in the Boston school for the deaf. At that time those thus afflicted had been consigned to a small world of their own where thoughts were inadequately expressed only by means of signs. They were known as "deaf and dumb" people. Bell refused to believe that they need remain "dumb", and so worked out a system which taught visible speech. Within three years the leading institutions for the deaf in the country were employing the system in their daily work.

Perfection in Tribute

In a theater in South Africa a beauty competition was held, each person present being asked to write the name of the lady he or she considered the most beautiful in the town.

A little boy who had been present was telling his mother all about it the following morning. He informed her that he, too, had voted. She was surprised, as the boy was rather shy and reserved. However, she did not express any surprise, but simply asked him for whom he voted.

"I just wrote 'Mother,'" was the reply.

HOW TO GIVE "TEA FOR TWO"
---by a Bride

NEVER invite a man to tea unless you are prepared to make a good impression.

And that'll require plenty of sandwiches and cakes—for a real he-man consumes more parlor food in an afternoon than you'd eat in a week.

And be sure to have plenty of knives and forks and spoons—for he'll drop whatever piece of silver you have least of.... I've never known it to fail.

But most important, your silver should be the very best looking pattern you can find.

Speaking of good-looking things, you'd better drop into our shop and see the beautiful silver and jewelry we have—among them that stunning new "TRIUMPH" pattern in Wm. Rogers & Son silverplate.

Triumph Pattern Tea Spoons $1.75 per half doz.

Triumph Pattern Individual Salad Fork $2.00 per set of 6
